LOCAL SKATERS WANT POND FLOODED

The hundreds of skaters who use the Globe Hollow swimming pool for skating are complaining that the ice is very soft and that when the pond flooded so a new surface may be frozen and the skating improved. It is claimed that the pond can be easily flooded as there is a gate which will allow the water to come from the big storage reservoir to the south into the smaller pond. If the water was allowed to flood the present surface a good coating of smooth ice would result and the skating be very much improved.

TEXTILE MILLS ADVANCE WAGES

Almost General Increase of Twelve and a Half Per Cent
Agreed Upon.

MARKS A NEW HIGH LEVEL

According to Estimates, the Change
Will Add $1,000,000 a Week to the Payrolls of New England Mills—
Other Labor Matters of Interest.

Advanced wages for thousands of operatives in the textile industry in New England and New York, Washington, D. C., and two, it was indicated, 300,000 workers in cotton and woolen mills in Massachusetts and thousands of operatives in other eastern states would be receiving higher pay.

The advance, which almost generally was announced as 12½ per cent, marks a new high level of wages. It is estimated it will add slightly less than $1,000,000 weekly to the payrolls of New England mills. Increases in textile industry wages since the beginning of the war will then aggregate from 100 to 148 per cent. Of those who will benefit by the advance approximately 300,000 are employed in cotton mills and 100,000 in woolen and worsted mills.

In other words the company regards its good relations with its employees as one of the important assets to be considered in its operations. An attitude of course, is the result of experience. It might be called enlightened self interest. It is coming to be fairly common among American industries—Kansas City Star.

WAGES AND COST OF LIVING

Effort to Be Made in New South Wales to Maintain Them
on a Parity.

A fixed amount, covering the cost of living for a man and wife and the maintenance of their children, is to form the basis from which all rates of pay will be calculated in New South Wales.

The amount was not made public.

This company employs upward of 35,000 persons at fifty-six mills, including plants in New York and Pennsylvania.

Increases amounted to 100 mils with 40,000 operatives in New South Wales after 20,000 in Lowell, 12,500 in Lawrence, 9,000 in Biddeford and Saco, Maine; 3,000 in Ludlow, 5,000 in North Adams and lesser numbers in other places in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Men familiar with conditions in the industry said it was almost certain all textile interests would join in the advance.

No Strike During Contest.

The announcement by Goodyear Operators' Union, Local No. 2, of Lynn, Massachusetts, that its members will not strike during the existence of a contract which runs till September, 1920, led Judge Watt at the equity session of the Municipal court at Boston, Mass., not to issue a temporary injunction to restrain the workers from carrying out a picket line of certain Lynn manufacturers.

In bills in equity filed by the manufacturers, it was alleged that the employees had curtailed production because a 33 per cent increase in pay had been refused.

How "Reds" Settle Strikes.

The communist government at Petrograd has a rather primitive but exceedingly effective method of settling strikes within its confines. Paul Dukes, a British secret agent, told the Associated Press: When a strike occurs, the communist government tries to find the hidden leader. In most cases he finally is ferreted out and some morning the strikers awake to find their leader gone. Without their organization, they are ineffective and generally go back to work under worse conditions than when they left.

Labor Unions to Bar "Reds."

James P. Holland, president of the New York State Federation of Labor, announced an active campaign to drive radicals out of organized labor. Radicalism to him means, as he sees it, destructive aliens and those devoted to government. Every man as a member of a trade union is to take an oath of allegiance to the government.

President Holland said the state federation has the endorsement of President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation. In this "cleanup," Bogian Eight-Hour Movement.

A wave of eight-hour strikes is spreading over Belgium. The legal eight-hour day for mining became effective in December, and in mechanical trades and in the metal industries it has been fought for, shop by shop, with the employers mobilizing every power to resist the workers.

Alberta's Mining Operations.

Alberta, Canada, during the year 1919, there were 317 coal mines, two copper ore and two shale mines in operation. Of these, 100 were closed or re-opened and 71 abandoned. The total output of coal for the year was 61,486,020 tons, exceeding 1,265,208 tons the output for 1917. The average number of persons employed in mine work during 1918 was 8,776.

HIS UNSEEN GUEST

Waitress Tells of Experience in Serving Ghost.

Old Gentleman May Have Been a Little Off, but Her Motion is That He Had Recently Lost a Loved Grandchild.

In the routine of the mail a circular has come to this office announcing the sale of a new issue of stock of a industrial corporation. The report of the president of the company is included, giving detailed information about its condition, its assets and liabilities, its history and its prospects. Following the balance sheet comes this paragraph:

"It has been the constant endeavor of the company to maintain personal friendly relations with its employees through providing adequate wage scales, through considerate treatment of their relations with the management, and a constant interest in the discriminating. Her deafness, her quiet manners, her promptness—above all her unfailing politeness—stamp her as one apart from the sisterhood. She is a sensible and capable woman who deals with one of those peckish, snappy men who had dropped in here. The impression that because one sits on a stool in this excellent place it is cheap, isn't. He was a little ashamed to run up the prices, so she fussed about the bill, and when he departed, and served Jane permitted herself a weary smile.

"You have got along with all kinds, don't you?" remarked a patron.

"Indeed, yes," said Jane. "I served a ghost yesterday morning."

He was a tall, thin man, dressed early for breakfast. He was beautifully dressed. I think he was one of the hotel guests; at least he came in that entrance. He chose a stool and when somebody tried to sit him, he said, "No, thank you, but can't we see that seat is taken." He ordered two soft boiled eggs and coffee. Then he turned to the vacant stool and asked: "What would you like, my dear?"

"You paused as if for an answer. Apparently he had one, for he said to me, "I am not afraid of it if you will let me. A piece of paper and a cup of weak coffee with milk and some rolls."

"There wasn't any ale at that hour and he ordered sliced peaches. I brought all the things and arranged them in two rows. He then took a napkin, was never seen by him again. He hurried the oats at the vacant place before he ate a bite himself. Then he made his own breakfast. I thought there might be a sweat about the two checks, but no. He added them up and when I asked him for the change in his hand, left a tip of five cents of each plate and then asked for a paper sack. In it he put an unbroken roll. Then he paid the cashier and went out. They found the paper bag with the roll in it outside on the steps."

"Could you make out whether he thought he was talking to a man or a woman?" asked the patron.

"I thought it was a little child," said Jane softly. "He always looked very pale, but when he was seated at the table and the paper bag for his fast was childish, too—I thought—and Jane's eyes seemed a little misty. "I thought maybe he had lost a favorite grandchild."

EARLY MORNING FIRE CONSUMES BUILDING

A tobacco sorting building owned by Frank A. Kish on Tolland turnpike was destroyed by fire on an unknown origin early Sunday morning.
At 1:45 o'clock Mrs. Kish was awakened by a noise outside the house and discovered that the tobacco sorting building was in flames.
An alarm was sounded on the fire which in the North End of the town set off the automobile fire truck of the Eighth School and Utilities district was run out to the scene of the fire. The fire was outside the district lines and the no hydrant near to which a line of hose might be connected. There was little that the firemen could do and the building was reduced to ashes.
The loss will be about $2,000 which is partly covered by insurance.
The building was 33x35 feet and was originally erected for an ice house.
Or it had been used as a place in which to store tobacco. There were but a few tools in the building at the time of the fire. All the tobacco had been removed from the building.

BASEBALL CLUB CHANGES NAME AND ELECTS OFFICERS

A meeting of the baseball club of the former Athletic has been called to change the name to the Manchester Baseball Club.

John Cairns, one of the leading members of the town, and a prominent business man was chosen to preside
over the club.

William Lowd who managed the Athletics so successfully last season decided to take the reins this year. Thomas Chambers, at present manager of the Army & Navy basketball team, was chosen as manager and William Leggett was selected as assistant manager. Joseph Teddy, another former manager of the Athletics was picked as secretary and treasurer.

It was voted to continue the team under the new name
of Manchester.

Last year the Athletics were competed to be the best all local basketball aggregation of any town or city in Connecticut or Massachusetts.

Manager Dow brought the track and informed the track to the semi-professional teams to South Manchester and our local boys held their own with these teams.

One of the players of the Athletics said this morning that the public of the town appreciated a purely local team.

This was appeared to be the best all local team in the state.

The team has been engaged by some young people who wanted to go to Ellington Sunday night. Before it was time to start on the trip Mr. Cairns came along took the track and informed Mr. Hastings that the partnership was dissolved, claiming there had not been an equal distribution of the money earned.

Mr. Kish took the track away. Mr. Cohen also informed his partner that the cash paid in on the track by Mr. Hastings was lost to the latter as he had no further claim or interest in the business.

BUY BUSINESS BLOCK ON MAIN STREET

Maurice Elman and Nathan Marlow have bought the Holt building
at Main street and Brainerd place.
The building is a one-story brick structure with a frontage on Main street and is at present occupied by Mr. Marlow. It was built by Mr. J. H. Holl and was so constructed that two or more additional stories may be put on. It is Mr. Holl's intention to add two stories to the building
last year, but his plans were blocked by the action of the selection in refusing to allow any alterations to be made until a controversy concerning the location of the street lines at that point had been settled. The matter is still in an unsettled condition.

According to the bond for a deed which the new owners have, they are protected against any legal ex-posure which might ensue because of the uncertainty of location of the street lines.
