The supper will be served at 7:15 o'clock, preceding which there will be a reception at Cheney hall where members of the chamber can meet the guests of the chamber.

An Afflicted Family
James and Mrs. McCarter of Chestnut Oak street are deeply grieved over the death of their darling little son, one year old. Infancy followed by pneumonia caused the vacancy in their home and the sorrow in their hearts. Their precious boy died Monday after an illness of three days. The body was placed in a vault at St. James cemetery until Friday evening, when a reception will be held. The services will be at 7:15 o'clock, preceding which there will be a reception at Cheney hall where members of the chamber can meet the guests of the chamber.

MRS. NELLIE M. GRANT
The funeral of Mrs. Nellie M. Grant was held from Holloman Harford's undertaking parlors Saturday morning. The body was taken to Wapping where burial took place. Mrs. Grant was 62 years old and her death followed an illness with bronchial pneumonia. She is survived by one brother, Timothy Maloney of South Manchester, and by a sister, Mrs. E. W. Keeney of Enfield.

MRS. ADELAIDE H. PITKIN
Mrs. Adelaide H. Pitkin, widow of the late James R. Pitkin, died at her home Porter and Pitkin streets last Saturday, following a week's illness with pneumonia. Mrs. Pitkin was in her 88th year and resided in the house in which she died ever since her marriage, 60 years ago. Her husband, Mr. Pitkin, died in 1907 and left his wife a widow with two sons, Frank H. Pitkin and Emily W. Pitkin, who are now deceased. Mrs. Pitkin also has five grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Junk Prices High
It is reported that local junk dealers are doing a big business in all kinds of old junk, as the market prices are very high at the present time. It is stated that the high prices which prevailed during the Great War in Europe would go still higher. The high prices paid are causing people to pick up their old junk and turn it into cash. Old paper stock which sold a few months ago for thirty-five cents per hundred pounds, has risen to sixty cents per hundred. Magazines are bringing one cent the pound.

Prayer View of Peace.
Peace is to be given to all men. There is no reason why, as far as we are concerned, we should not be at peace with everybody. If even we are not at peace with us, we may be at peace with them. Let them look to their own business.

The annual masquerade ball to be given by the St. Mary's Young Men's Club is scheduled for Cheney Hall Thursday evening, February 12th. Guests will be all young living people all to be there, begin planning and preparing for the event now. Some young woman is to be dressed in a pearl necklace as a prize for the handsomest costume. It should be home made, original, attractive. These are the winning qualities keep them in mind and work accordingly. The judges will look you over.

Everyone knows when he sees a flag half-dusted that it is a sign of weakness. We have any idea how the custom originated? It arises from the old naval rule that the sign of submission was the lowering of the flag by the vanquished.

SOLDIERS VS. SAILORS SCENT SNAPPY STRUGGLE

One of the most spirited basketball games of the season is expected to be at the Recreation Center, Holloman Hall, on Friday evening, when the Army and Navy team, composed of soldiers vs. sailors, meet a team of sailors. This will be the first in a series of games for the championship among the ex-service men. The "Sailors" are predicting that all kinds of things are to happen to the game.

The sailors will present the following items: American writer Quish and Russell forwards; Root and Peterson guards. The Army and Navy line-up will be Farley, center; Massie and Keith, guards. There will be a preliminary in which the Allies A. C. team will tackle Roxie D'Amato and Harry Park specials. The "probs" will start at 7:30 p.m. Dancing will follow the big game at the Army and Navy club houses.

The Army and Navy team are booked to play the Wyomakans in Hartford tomorrow evening and a group of local basketball admirers will be on hand to cheer the team. The Wyomakans which is composed of former basketball stars known as "old timers" defeated the Army and Navy outfit last week by the narrow margin of a single and lonely point in one of the fastest games of the season. Jack Curry and Harry Sudd, formerly South Manchester players are with the Wyomakans.

DAUGHTER OF AGUINALDO IN U. S. CAPITAL

She Meets Many Wives of American Statesmen and Makes a Hit.

When General Emilio Aguinaldo was leading the Filipino army against the American forces years ago he probably little dreamed that some day a daughter of his would visit the city of Washington and would be given a great reception at the Senate. Congress. One of the wives of the 120 members of the American Congress and two wives of members of the President's cabinet would be the guests of the Spanish church.

But all actually happened when Miss Carmen Aguinaldo, his namesake, arrived in Washington recently.

—Miss Aguinaldo was simply delightful, was the expression of one congressman's wife. She was very modest, yet she acted so natural and that "Friends of mine" were feasible if not very polite, in a series of pamphlets.

Both sides of course, quoted Sergeant James Xavier McGinn, United States marine corps, told this to the wide world as he stepped ashore at Charlestown, S. C., recently from the transport which had brought him back from nearly two years in the West Indies. He had a tale to tell, and this is how he told it:

"There was up," he continued, "a certain desire for the benefit of the Filipinos." "We stopped off at Nassau, in the Bahamas. I was walking along the street when up to me stepped one of them old natives, and said 'I am a black man.' " "Shame! 'tis a fine day for th' Orishas," says he to me. I know him, when another marine grabs my arm, he'd turn there before, like other marine, and he explains it all.

"It seems that a hundred years ago—or maybe it was a thousand—the natives of the Philippines, and the natives of Ireland, to the Bahamas, and the natives learned English from them. Even since they've talked with all.

"Shame! 'tis a fine day for th' Orishas," says he to me. I know him, when another marine grabs my arm, he'd turn there before, like other marine, and he explains it all.

Pershing Thanks Y. M. C. A.

South Manchester, Conn.
January 27, 1920.

I am enclosing copy of a letter received from Mr. E. C. Carter, Chief Secretary of the A. E. F.; Y. M. C. A., in which he enclosed a facsimile letter from General John J. Pershing, which speaks for itself and which I would appreciate you publishing, as I think they both would prove interesting to the public at large and serve to demonstrate the value of the funds which they so generously gave for the cause did not go amiss.

I might also add to the above that the casualty list of the Y. M. C. A. contains the names of 180.

Killed in Action 11

Died in Overseas Service 73

Died in Home Camp Service 46

Thanking you, I am

Very truly yours,

Maud E. Tryon,
American Expeditionary Forces
Office of the Commander-in-Chief France.

Mr. E. C. Carter, Chief Secretary,
Y. M. C. A.

12 rue d'Agenais, Paris.

My Dear Mr. Carter:

On behalf of the American Expedition, I wish to express my thanks to you and to your fellow workers for your appreciation and thanks for the splendid service which the Young Men's Christian Association has performed for the American Army in Europe.

When the first contingents began arriving, the Y. M. C. A. began that work for the American soldiers which has ever since been done by the organization throughout the war.

All divisions and units of the small organizations have enjoyed its benefits and services. Besides maintaining the usual recreation halls, it has conducted canteens where the men could purchase small supplies and, in addition the Y. M. C. A. has constantly distributed without charge tobacco, beer, drinks and the like to the men.

A great service of great value has been the creation of and the work in leave areas where the problem of giving the men occasional respite from the routine of army life has been solved. The facts which made this possible have been the recreational facilities in the leave areas, and especially the sense of comradeship among the men of the American forces.

Other branches of your endeavor deserving of special mention are those connected with education, entertainment and athletics. In each of these departments the Y. M. C. A. has done excellent work, but the features which I have mentioned do not begin to cover the activities of the organization. The Y. M. C. A. stands fully eager to undertake any extension of its work to meet the wishes of the military authorities. This spirit of willingness has resulted in the army's taking for granted much of your society's ability to accomplish results, and sometimes expecting more than was reasonably allowable under the circumstances. It is your spirit which has enabled the American Army and made possible its contribution to the successful conclusion of the war.

As I cannot address all of your workers personally, I hope that you and they will accept this letter as an expression of my appreciation of the splendid work that you have done in France.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN J. PERSHING,

New York, December 30, 1919.

Dear Fellow Secretaries of the A. E. F., Y. M. C. A.:

Though I reached New York last month this is the first chance I have had for sending you the facsimile copy of General Pershing's letter.

And now once more I wish to thank you all for your organization.

GENERAL PHILIPPINES FOR FREEDOM

Declares It Not Right That Freedom Should Longer Be Withheld.

By FRANCIS BURTON HARRISON,
Governor-General of the Philippines.
(First Article.)

My six years' experience as governor-general of the Philippine Islands have convinced me that the Filipino people are ready and able to have and to keep their independence. I have recommended to Congress, as well as to the executive branch of the government, that independence be granted.

As to the question of the stability of government, I wish to say to the American people that, as the governor-general, that in my opinion there exists today in the Philippine Islands a stable government, which I think should answer the requirements of the world, as put by President Grant and McKinley, and as I understand it, also by Mr. Root, that a government elected by the suffrage of the people, which is supported by the people, which is capable of maintaining the right of fulfilling its international obligations.

I am very glad to go on record as being entirely in sympathy with the aspirations of the Filipino nation for independence.

I have recommended to Congress that in granting independence some provision be made similar to what is known as the Platt amendment in the treaty of Paris, which would allow the United States to interfere in the affairs of the new republic if the actions of foreign governments and also permits the United States to interfere with the affairs of the new republic in case conditions of disorder should be found to prevail. Some compromise may now come in the expression of the views of the Filipinos; it is my own view of what would be desirable to secure a feeling of confidence and satisfaction on the part of all persons who have a sincere interest in the Philippines or who contemplate doing so in the near future.

But it is not right that independence itself should longer be delayed.

By financial experience, by financial ability, in every way, the 11,000,000 Filipinos are entitled to be free from every government except of their own choice. They are intelligent enough to decide for themselves.

I have recommended to the Philipines to be honest, efficient and as capable of administering executive positions as any man I have met anywhere in the world.

The officials are today governing 1,000 municipalities and forty-two provinces, economically, efficiently and for the good of the entire people. They have a native congress, including many great men, who are the equals of any in the United States.

The local leaders in Spain, Korea, Mexico, the House of Representatives and President Quezon of the Senate who would defend any office.

The Filipinos are away ahead of the United States in successful government ownership and operation of public utilities.

The government took hold of the steamship lines, which then pay a profit of 100,000 pesos a month under private ownership.

It took hold of the highways, and we have 7,000 miles of the best macadamized roads in the world. The Manila city government is about to take over the street railways and the gas and electric plants, while the territorial government is arranging for ownership and control of the coal supply.

The movement for independence is a peaceful race. No territory was more loyal to Uncle Sam during the war. It offered an armed and equipped division to our government, it had a submarine base and unbroken library loan and Red Cross funds.

Two million natives speak English fluently and there are 700,000 English speaking children in their schools.

I am more than willing to let the Filipinos be granted what they deserve—a government like that of the United States.

A MISREPRESENTED RACE.

The Filipino people are a much misrepresented race. The frequent publication of pictures of the dark-skinned Negroes and Negroes has caused a great many Americans to believe they are typical of the inhabitants of the Philippines. Such is far from the case, however. Of 11,000,000 there are a Christian, civilized people with a culture and refinement that will compare very favorably with that of other nations. The Filipino women are genuinely modest, gentle, graceful and kind. A Filipino woman is something that is almost unique in the Americas, that is to say she is not inferior to all other white ladies.

BEST FOOD TO FATTEN FOWL

Whether Young or Old Mixed Grains Are Better Than Any One Variety

Milk is Relished.

Mixed grains are better for fattening fowl, than any one variety alone. Oats and corn, however, are perhaps the most fattening. Buckwheat and ordinary wheat are good food and add variety to the ration, but they are not so fat-making. Chickpeas are a third of one part of feed, the same people do, they are put on mixed feed. Milk is one of the best articles of diet that can be put on the fowl's bill of fare.

Good walks between the buildings on farms add greatly to the ease and comfort with which farm work can be done. Good walks about suburban homes are a necessity. Concrete walks are good food and add variety to the ration, but they are not so fat-making. Chickpeas are a third of one part of feed, the same people do, they are put on mixed feed. Milk is one of the best articles of diet that can be put on the fowl's bill of fare.

As a result of having them walk, particularly in having them perch, the fowl are more active and more alert. The heat of the sun is sharp and causes the hens to stop laying. The man addressed replied, "No, madam."

"Then you must be Chinese," she said.

Maximo M. Kalam, "No, I am not. I am a Filipino," he replied.

"Well, that's all I want to know," the man said. "I am a Filipino, and I am here to stay." He was walking along the Plymouth Rocks, the Rhode Island Reds and the Wyandottes, all of them can be fed to gain from a pound to a pound and a half in three weeks possibly. This is profitable feeding.

FEED FOWLS DAMAGED GRAIN

It is Essential to Exercise Particular Care That Birds Are Not Injured by Material.

According to the report of the Agricultural Department of the Philippines, grain should be fed to fowls in small amounts at a time, and the amount should not exceed one-half cupful per bird per day.

Good fowls damaged grain, and the grain should be fed in small amounts at a time, and the amount should not exceed one-half cupful per bird per day.

Cities at last have the stimulus to make improvement whether they do or not. The village and rural community lack the stimulation that comes through contact with the outside world. It is not surprising to find that many towns have been built up by the American government.

There is an incentive, also, something about the range which the birds have as well as the waste products which they utilize that apparently keeps them healthy, so that it is not right that independence itself should longer be delayed.

There is an incentive, also, something about the range which the birds have as well as the waste products which they utilize that apparently keeps them healthy, so that it is not right that independence itself should longer be delayed.

By financial experience, by financial ability, in every way, the 11,000,000 Filipinos are entitled to be free from every government except of their own choice. They are intelligent enough to decide for themselves.

I have recommended to the Philipines to be honest, efficient and as capable of administering executive positions as any man I have met anywhere in the world.

The officials are today governing 1,000 municipalities and forty-two provinces, economically, efficiently and for the good of the entire people. They have a native congress, including many great men, who are the equals of any in the United States.

The local leaders in Spain, Korea, Mexico, the House of Representatives and President Quezon of the Senate who would defend any office.

The Filipinos are away ahead of the United States in successful government ownership and operation of public utilities.

The government took hold of the steamship lines, which then pay a profit of 100,000 pesos a month under private ownership.

It took hold of the highways, and we have 7,000 miles of the best macadamized roads in the world. The Manila city government is about to take over the street railways and the gas and electric plants, while the territorial government is arranging for ownership and control of the coal supply.

The movement for independence is a peaceful race. No territory was more loyal to Uncle Sam during the war. It offered an armed and equipped division to our government, it had a submarine base and unbroken library loan and Red Cross funds.

Two million natives speak English fluently and there are 700,000 English speaking children in their schools.

I am more than willing to let the Filipinos be granted what they deserve—a government like that of the United States.

A MISREPRESENTED RACE.

The Filipino people are a much misrepresented race. The frequent publication of pictures of the dark-skinned Negroes and Negroes has caused a great many Americans to believe they are typical of the inhabitants of the Philippines. Such is far from the case, however. Of 11,000,000 there are a Christian, civilized people with a culture and refinement that will compare very favorably with that of other nations. The Filipino women are genuinely modest, gentle, graceful and kind. A Filipino woman is something that is almost unique in the Americas, that is to say she is not inferior to all other white ladies.

CLERICAL BAROMETERS.

The following is a list of the various types of barometers used in the Philippines.

When rain is coming, the barometer rises, and when it is going down, the barometer falls.
