THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

MANY persons, in seeking the derivation of the name of the popular card game, have come to the conclusion that i originated in any one of the popular ejaculations calling for si lence or attention—the Latin "s," the German "hist," or the Scotch "whist." This explanation sounds logical, but there are others who as stoutly main tain that the name was derived from the fact that trump "sweep" or "whisk" the board. a contention which is supporte by a study of at least three of the languages which enter into "wisch," meaning a "mop." Danish, the equivalent of the verb "to wipe" is "viske" in Scotch it is "wiska"-all of which bear a striking resemblance to the English "whist, Another form of the same word may be found in the term "whisk-broom," meaning a broom taken in this country in the planting of nut trees in former years, our roadsides would be more beautiful, the meats included in their rations on the European battle fronts that would have been very acceptable as food and have added little weight to their packs Unfortunately the tree has not been much used as yet for crops yielding staple food in places where men till the soil. They begin with crops which return annual results in exchange fo labor. Now that the crops from annual plants are becoming smaller every year in proportion to the increased number of inhabitants, men will set great trees at work upon millions of half barren acres. These trees will return a larger ; loft for less la-plant crops. People have not found it out as yet.-Pittsburgh Dispatch. Tree Screen Routed Billboard. The planting of a tree screen is a way of suppressing billboards that has been tried with success on one boulevard in Boston. Directly across the way from a dignified hotel that specializes largely in long-term guests, a hage boarding was erected some ten years ago. It was built to last 25 years, with oak posts and sheet-iron panel ing. The hotel proprietor obtained permission from the city to set out in front of the billboard lot a row of good-sized young poplars. Now the proprietor of the billboard has removed his ugly structure to another place, where it will be seen and, in his opinion, do him some good. What a public benefactor is the gentleman who made eight graceful trees to flourish where once a biatant billboard made desolate the view!—Christian Science Monitor.

Cultivate Responsibility.
No able-bodied child, no matter what the station in life, should be allowed to grow up without a chance to develop a sense of responsibility for individual support. The backyard garden, the school and the vacant lot garden offer the child and a few others, this chance. Emphasis upon this phase of gardening will not be misplaced by the schools, the association or indi vidual homes.—Kansas City Times.

So long as there is a neighbor who mitivates thisties, dendellons, etc., in his fields or lawn, it is well-nigh incomble for the careful, industrious slighbor to accure the fredom he pays for by his own care.
