Sought by Milady of Other Lands -New Spring Creations Are Captivating.

American designers, writes a New York fashion correspondent, have taken their places once and for all as leaders in the ranks of fashion. Abroad one hears the women of fashton sighingly say, "Ob. if only I could have one of those American suits-or one of those American something else." We are producing here some conspicuously beautiful creations. ones that are distinctly the expres sions of our own personalities. They accuse us of dressing all alike. Well, if we do, that is because the American women have refused to open their eyes sufficiently to the possibilities of these American creations, for they are not all designed alike by any manner of means, and any sameness in our dressing cunnot be laid at the doors of the uritate who are working so hard to set the pare along distinctive American lines.

The fashion shows this spring presenting strictly American-made fashions, have been a treat to the eye, the crudities which once were apparent are fast disappearing, and one delights in a showing of American gowns as much because of their fine points of design and construction as because of their utter suitability to the figures which they are meant to adorn.
