for Summer  In the spring of 1775 General Gage was informed that the Colonists had deposited a large quantity of munitions of war at Concord, a village some 16 emiles outside of Boston, and he plarened a secret expedition to seize them. The alert and wary Colonists heard of his plan, however, and through the immortal ride of Paul Revere the whole countrygide was alarmed. When Major Pitcairn, with some 800 men, (the advance guard of the British) arrived at Lexington on their way to Concord, they were met on the village green by about seventy determined men under Capt, Jonas Parker. The British ordered them to disperse, and when they refused to do so, fired upon them, killing eight and wounding a number of others. This began the Revolutionary war.
