OLDER GIRLS CONVENT

Three hundred girls from all over Hartford County spent Friday afternoon and all day Saturday in South Manchester attending the Older Girls' Conferences in Cheney Hall.

OLDER GIRLS CONVENT

The evening program was concluded with religious services in charge of Miss Carolyn Stanborn, of the Hartford Theological Seminary.

OLDER GIRLS CONVENT

Service last night's conference opened with formal prayer and sermon by Miss Stanborn, Mrs. Cora Down Stevens addressed the girls taking for her subject "The Road Builders."

The girls' highway, his address was very interesting. It went down was pointed out that the path of virtue led to "The King's Highway," and drew apt illustrations from highways of the modern kings and rulers, comparing them with the path and roads that one encounters every day, if one seeks to be engaged in the service of God, the King of Kings.

Who's Who

ROBERT J. SMITH, rector, is a Hartford County man being born in Manchester July 27, 1883. At an early age he entered the employ of Cheney Brothers, being formerly in their ribbon warping department where he resided in 1914 to engage in the real estate and insurance business. In the fall of the year that he left the mill he became a candidate for assessor on the republican ticket and was elected, a position he still holds. His success as a real estate dealer has been pronounced and many important sales have been closed through his office. In addition to being a member of the board of assessors he has been a member of the Ninth District School committee having charge of the recreation center in the Cheney building. He is a member of the State Legislature, being first elected in 1919, and again in 1921. He married in 1907, Miss Elizabeth Byrd, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Byrd of Main street, and to their marriage two children, Robert and Majorie, have been born.

Mrs. Esther Athey of Linden street, celebrated her eighty-ninth birthday Tuesday. She received many congratulations from friends during the day. Mrs. Athey is enjoying good health at this time, although she had an attack of pneumonia last winter.

AROUND THE TOWN WITH "BUD"

Dr. D. C. Y. Moore, Chairman of Local Board of Health, Points Out That Practically Every School Child in Manchester Has Been Vaccinated

The Town of Manchester is practically immune from small pox epidemic. This despite the fact that the disease is now raging in several sections of the state. The Board of Health has issued warnings to all populations to take extra-ordinary measures to prevent the disease from gaining a foothold in Connecticut. That the Board of Health, mindful of the welfare of the town, started a campaign with the opening of the schools last Fall and all residents, and especially parents, may feel quite secure in the announcement of Dr. D. C. Y. Moore, chairman of the board, that: "We feel that the Town of Manchester is immune from the small pox epidemic, so far as vaccination is concerned. We have endeavored to protect the town from a possible spread of the disease, not only by vaccination by other methods, and present conditions indicate that we have been successful. I feel that the people of Manchester have nothing to worry about."

A Remarkable Record. According to information received from Dr. Moore, Manchester is established a record that is being surpassed by no other town in the state, in that practically every child in Manchester has been vaccinated. The Board of Health, which started a school district of vaccination early in the season of the fall, has vaccinated 1,000 children out of the total population of 10,000. It is deemed fortunate that the season of the fall, when the disease is most prevalent, has passed. Today practically every child in Manchester has been vaccinated.

Vaccination Campaign. "A notable feature of the campaign of vaccination," added Dr. Moore, "is that it has been successful. I feel that the people of Manchester have nothing to worry about."

SPRING'S RITUAL. Song Sparrow introit songs; Robin, "Kyrle, Kyrle"; Redwing chant, "I Believe"; Oriole chorals, "Dear yet"; Hermit through a Sanctus notes; Crossover after the Gloria; Stander golden psalm verses; Daniel flowers tremble psalm; Little towns in the hills; For Easter Eucharist. —M. M. F. in the Living Church.

HOUSECLEANING. New Day, did you see? Don't tell me you are sick; I've put away your fishing rod; Your golf sticks, too, you'll miss; Just you play golf, and do your share. —Shortfellow in Brooklyn Eagle.

Holl Starts Enlargement of Orford Hotel Building

Plans Include Installation of New Stairs, Sixty Office Suits, Eight Bowling Alleys, Five Pool Rooms, Restraints and Elevators—Expected Completion by Fall.

Another story added to the building making it four floors in front, with at least sixty rooms available for office purposes, and a large dining room, and a basement constructed in such a way as to make available a space that will accommodate at least eight bowling alleys and four or five pool rooms, as the plans approved by E. J. Holl for renovating the former Orford Hotel building on Main street in this place. Work has already been started and before another week it will be in full swing as Mr. Holl expects to have the building ready for occupancy by the latter part of the year.
