Last Saturday a fire started up near the Manchester line in Bolton and soon it swept around south of the Willimantic road coming out near the flats beyond the Notch and spreading out toward Bolton Center and Gilead. It also spread onto the land near the Bill Martin farm which is just over the Manchester line from Bolton. Tuesday it was blazing again south of the old New England Hotel and Wednesday's fire however was the largest of the series and although no definite estimate has been made of the money loss, counting in the cost of the labor used to fight it the fire must have caused thousands of dollars worth of damage.

The first guncotton-nitroglycerin dynamite without a headache DUMORITE is the first guncotton-nitroglycerin dyna-mite put on the market that can be used with [a] certainty that no headache will result. If you have ever suffered from "dynamite headache" you can appreciate what a boon this new Du Pont explosive is to the farmers of this country—in this one particular alone.

Couple with this feature its extreme economy-135 to 140 sticks at the price of 100 sticks of 40% dynamite with equal strength to the latter, stick for stick. Then add its non-freezing feature. These advantages make it certain that Dumorite will be the choice of most farmers in this country for all farm purposes-whether blasting stumps or boulders or planting trees or ditching in dry soil.

See us now about your dynamite supply for this season. We can save you one-third on your blasting costs.
