Aside from this legendary story, it is certain that the Arabs knew about coffee as early as A. D. 1470, because it was used to keep the people awake during religious ceremonies. Later, it was prohibited as an intoxicant, which only helped to popularise it, for its use spread to Constantinople. Until 1600, 40 years after it was introduced into England, Arabia was the only place where the coffee berries could be obtained. Buying a Good Rug Is a Question Dealer Honesty

No other household purchase should require as much care and thought as the purchase of a rug. The reason for this is that it takes an experienced eye to detect an inferior or defective article. Then of course, a discriminating home furnisher should patronize only a dealer in whom he has implicit trust.

This July Sale includes an extensive assortment of Rugs at prices of compelling interest. All rugs are perfect in weave and design and are from mills that live up to the Keith Standard of material and workmanship. The prices are such as will appeal to the thrifty housekeeper who wants to make her home more attractive and livable at the least expense.

Manners Are Good

The very newest thing we have heard of is the mattress that will float, observes the Christian Science Monitor. Not that it is at all necessary that a mattress should float, but it is an interesting fact that a mattress or pillow staffed with the new silk-cotton maternal, called "kapok," may be used even as a life preserver. For many years the kapok tree grew in the tropical countries, principally Java, but it is only within the last ten years that its practical qualities were discovered. Now the United States a one imports annually about 20,000 tous to be manufactured into mattresses, pillows, cushions and life preservers.
