nevertheless plans are being prepared for such a structure as will prove to be a far more ideal building for Trade School purposes than the present quarters can offer. The new Trade School building will be of mill construction two stories high and be adaptable in every way for the needs that will be put upon it.

The voters will be made tomorrow between the hours of 9 a. m. and 8 p. m. and also on next week. Saturday between the same hours. In regard to this men who have been naturalized will be compelled to show their citizenship papers. The following selectmen will be on duty tomor. selectmen will be on duty tomor-

AN IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT ON AN IMPORTANT SUBJECT

Butter-Maid Bread respectfully asks a warm welcome in this communityand a place of honor in your home.

Like a new citizen coming among you, Butter-Maid Bread requests your consideration — your patronage — your good opinion—solely on its mer-its. It asks only a fair trial—and it is satisfied to rest its case on the result. Please let Butter-Maid present its cre-

It is made from a famous formula, tested and proven by bakers of high standing from Maine to California. It is baked and wrapped under spotlessly clean and sanitary conditions.

The ingredients which go into Butter-Maid Bread are of the finest quality and purity. Its food value is unequalled. Rich in butter fats, packed with nourishment, Butter-Maid is an ideal food for the growing child or the hard working grown-up.

And flavor. That is always one important test of bread. Put a loaf of Butter-Maid on your table and watch the result. Two slices three four and then the family begins to ask, "Where did you get this bread? It is very different from the Bread we have been getting." After one trial, your family will be satisfied with no other Brand.

This is Butter-Maid's reputation. It stands squarely on its record. It admits of no superior in point of wholesomeness, cleanliness, nourishment or flavor.

Better Homes Week, Oct. 9th to 14th

BETTER HOMES WEEK

ETTER HOMES WEEK is an event inaugurated by the Better Homes Bureau of the United Co. tion composed of members of the furniture and upholsterers' trades as well as representatives of floor covering and kindred lines. This organization, working in cooperation with architects, has for its purpose the designing and furnishing of homes that will be better arranged and in better taste.

No matter how big or how small your home is, there is a correct and incorrect way to furnish it. Our Mr. Walter is here to help you plan room arrangements. If you are building, remodeling, or just rearranging, why not ask his advice? His services are free.

Incidentally our Annual Fall Opening takes place this week also. The new furniture for Fall and Winter is now on display for the first time. You are cordially invited to come in and browse around, and if you are planning to build, speak to Mr. Walter.

Of interest at this time will be the news that we have just received a truck-load of fine upholstered suites. Our stock of living room furniture has been nearly sold out and this load of thirteen suites comes to us at just the right time.

These suites are of the famous Karpen manufacture and include three piece outfits upholstered in tapestry and consisting of davenport, arm chair and wing chair for $189.00 and more.

Come in and be sure and inspect this new shipment of fine upholstered furniture.

Corsets Here to Stay, Says Poiret

In Parting Interview, Famous French Author-ity on Dress Disclaims Role of Dictator

By GEORGE HITZLER HIS may be a shock to the women of America but, If properly interpreted, should instead give understanding and comfort.

The famous M. Paul Poiret, of Paris, is not at all dictator of women's fashions.

He granted me an interview at his suite in the Rits-Carlton. I wanted to find out how it is that fashions arise and predominate, and said to him that I had come, therefore, to a recognized source of authority.

"Oh I am not an oracle at all. Many interviewers is understand my rough English and portray me as saying silly things which I have not said, he answered. I do not pose as a dictator or an authority on fashions, I nevely feel the tendencies of mode. I am simply scottive to what is going on in the world of women's dress."

drest."
"It is not a question of my taste," continued M.
Poiret, "but of mode."
"But how does mode arise," I asked.
"I really do not know," he replied. "Every year
I make up about two hundred models and why women choose what they do is more than I can explain. It is choose what they do is more than I can explain. It is my profession to make something new in keeping with what I feel women of taste desire. I do not at all seek to impose my taste upon them."

In recent interviews M. Potret was quoted as saying that corsets had passed, and so I asked whether he had been correctly quoted. He replied that he had referred only to the old-fashioned stiff corset which bound in women's walsts unnaturally.

"That corset, of course, is gone. It was impossible and never will return," he explained. "The tendency and never will return," he explained. "The tendency toward natural lines and the modern corset which b toward natural lines and the modern corset which saists women to keep them is bound to stay. Women want a soft corset of hygicaic character."

By "hygienic" M. Poiret explained that he meant a corset in keeping with nature's requirements.

"Some women," he said, "try to reason these things out locically and others follow their instincts. Some parts of a woman's figure must be supported. Women are not so strong as we are and need, and always will need, the core assistance in the way of a corset."
