CHENEY BROTHERS ANNOUNCE
Under investigation since last August are described in detail. The local firm states that it has been engaged in the construction of a new building on the site of the old Cheney Brothers' building, which was destroyed by fire in 1928. The new building is to be a modern structure, with ample room for the manufacture of rayon. The Cheney Brothers' building was one of the largest in the city, and its destruction was a great loss to the community. Something New! MAGIC FLOSS is a soft-twist, two-fold yarn, made of a combination of fine Worsted and Artificial Silk. It is so dyed that different colors in striking combinations appear alternately about every 12 inches. When knitted or crocheted into garments, MAGICFLOSS produces remarkably novel color effects in the very popular Paisley designs. No special stitches are required because the pattern takes care of itself, although only the plainest stitches are used. The results are truly fascinating to the worker, as the designs develop without planning or special effort.

KNIT-TEX
The only knitted fabric made from the long fine fibers of virgin wool. Knit-tex Topcoat is the only knitted coat that can be guaranteed to outwear three average overcoats. It never wrinkles, it never roughs up, it never loses its color and luster and it never gets out of shape. It is as warm as toast yet so light in weight that the wearer hardly feels that he has an overcoat on his shoulders. We now have the Knit-tex coat for immediate delivery in the following colors: Grey, Brown, Heather, Tan and Oxford. Priced at $27.50 and $29.00.

Obituary

LEWIS ROBBINS

The funeral of Lemuel Robbins, who died Thursday at his home No. 20 William street, was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Robert Thomas, pastor of the North Methodist Church officiated, and the burial was in the Burleigh cemetery. Mr. Robbins was a well known citizen in town, having been a resident of Manchester for the past forty years. He came to this town from Brooklyn, N. Y. Besides his wife, who was Miss Mary Anne he leaves four sons, Theodore, Harry, Lemuel and Daniel, all of Manchester, one daughter, one sister and four grandchildren.
The death of Mr. Robbins came unexpectedly, as he was ill only two weeks, but last week he suffered a shock from which he failed to rally.

Besides his wife he leaves one son, Eric, and a daughter Eva; three brothers, Herman, Halmer and Otto Modin, all of South Manchester and one sister, Mrs. Herman Segertind of Quincy, Mass. The funeral arrangements have not as yet been completed.

THURSDAY IS FINAL DATE FOR FILING

If You Haven't Made Out Your Income Tax Yet Do So at Once—Heavy Fine Can Be Laid On Delinquents.

Thursday of this week, March 15, is the last day on which the income tax returns for the year ending December 31, 1932, may be filed and persons who come under the law should endeavor to get their returns in by the mail by that day in order to escape the various penalties for either failing to pay or neglecting to send the returns into the collector of internal revenue at Hartford.

In Manchester, where the greater part of the working population is employed by Chesley Brothers, the firm has given each employee a statement of the wages earned during the year ending December 31, 1932. Nearly all the other firms in town have also notified their employees of their wages during the past year and the question of whether a person is obligated to file and pay tax or vice versa is based upon the amount of wages earned during the past year.

A married person not living with his wife or wife is considered single, and a widow or widower is considered single, although they may be exempted for $2,500 if maintaining a home.

A married person, if living with his wife or wife must file if the income is $2,000 or more. They may not pay any taxes, because married persons, if living together are exempted for $2,000 but the obligation to file remains if the income amounts to $2,500 or more.

For making a false or fraudulent return, a fine not exceeding $10,000 or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both, may be charged against the culprit. Persons who fail to make their returns on time can be fined $1,000 and in addition, twenty-five per cent of the total tax.

MOYNIHAN OPENS BARBER SHOP

Clifford Moynihian who has been employed for the past ten years by Patrick H. Dougherty, has purchased the barber shop formerly owned by Pasquale Vendrella in the old Magellan building on Main street near the corner of Eldridge street and will conduct a business of his own from now on. Mr. Moynihian has served his apprenticeship under Mr. Dougherty and has made a number of friends who are glad to see him starting in business for himself. The shop in which he will locate is considered one of the best at the South End of the town. The shop was formerly run by the late James Shaw, who was succeeded by his son, the late John P. Shaw. The latter sold out to Mr. Vendrella.

GIVE DICKSON FOUNTAIN PEN

David Dickson of Hope Company No. 2 was presented with a fountain pen just Saturday night by the company mess as a surprise supper staged for his benefit in the headquarters of Center House Company No. 2. Fire Company No. 2, presented Mr. Dickson with the token of the esteem in which fellow members hold him. Mr. Dickson has always been a willing worker at all Center House Company No. 2 affairs and is looking a position with the George E. Roth Company as salesman he will not be able to be with the company boys as often as before. Chief John F. Linnell of the Manchester Fire Department was also another one of the guests present.

THREE TISBO BROTHERS MISSING FROM ITALIAN BANK

VINCO TISBO, FRANCESCO TISBO, FRANCESCO TISBO.

Vincent Tisbo, head of an Italian East Side bank in New York city and his brothers have disappeared and the depositors are clamoring vainly for funds that may reach $2,000,000 in the aggregate. Vincent Tisbo, with his brothers, Vito Francisco and Riccardo, operated the combination agency and banking business and handled money of almost 40,000 depositors. They held no State license as a banking place, but accepted money for transmission to Italy.

HURLEY TELLS LOCAL MEN OF POLICE DUTIES

State Police Head Says Present Force is too Small to Cope With Growing Needs.

Superintendent Robert T. Hurley of the Connecticut State Police, was the speaker before the Men's Friendship Club of the South Methodist church last evening and he gave a very interesting talk on the history of the state police department, its growth and its present responsibilities. Superintendent Hurley was introduced by Selectman Willard B. Rogers, who described the speaker as a man who had risen to his present position by sheer determination to succeed in his profession and a man who was such a pleasure to know.

Superintendent Hurley told of the formation of the Connecticut State Police Department, the first of his kind in the country and a department upon which a number of other states had modeled their state police and constabulary organizations. He described the duties of the state police in the old days when most of the department's work consisted in covering criminal cases alone. Later on the supervision of weights and measures throughout the state was added to the duties of the department. With the coming of the moving pictures, the inspection of automobiles made it necessary that the state should take a hand in directing traffic, the motor vehicle department had been made part of the state police organization. This year in addition to its other duties, Mr. Hurley said that the fuel administration had been turned over to his department.

He outlined the zone system which had been laid out in accordance with the recent reorganization of the department and the placing of state police barracks at strategic points throughout the state where every main trunk line road into the state could be easily covered.

He said that the present force was inadequate but that the present session of the legislature would undoubtedly increase the personnel from its present roster of forty men up to 110 men, the number he thought could handle the needs that now drain the present small force.

Mr. Hurley was given a vote of thanks for his interesting talk which he concluded and he informed the members that it was always a pleasure to come to Manchester, in his old home town.

That is "Sheffield Plate." The process of welding silver plates on both sides of a copper sheet took the name of "Sheffield plate" from the English town. Electroplating superseded this practice and today the term is used recklessly in the trade, for products of superior and inferior quality alike, because it conveys a suggestion of "quality" to the buyers. Fifty per cent of the manufacturers in conference with the Federal Trade Commission have condemned this practice, defined the word as meaning "an article well plated on a base metal of nickel silver content," and agreed to add to this definition their own business. The Federal Trade Commission is inclined to disapprove of the use of the word as a trade name or mark for silver-plated hollow-ware, irrespective of its quality.—Scientific American.

Sports Chat. A sweater coat of blue and gray checked about on the side has a band of plain blue about the edge of the coat and is worn with a plaid skirt of gray green cloth. A gray tea with a big blue pom-pom completes a happy outfit for sports wear.

Why don't you wear your "straw hat" this year? Straw hats are the latest and best for sports wear.

THE POOR OLD FUNNY MAN

Did you ever sit down at a typewriter with a groan on and try to write something funny? If you haven't you don't know what a serious thing trying to be funny is. But if you read the following little verse by A. P. Herbert, famous wherever Punch is read, you'll have a new respect for the professional humorist.

Be gentle to the funny man,
And if his jokes are cheap,
Just laugh a little when you can,
And if you can't just weep.
For he is not as you suppose,
A sort of marmoset or ape,
A thing of joy, but full of woes,
And very much in debt.

You should have seen him mop his brow,
And tear his hair and shout,
"I will be funny, here and now,
But what, oh, what about?"
—American Waterbury.

Gum Problem Solved
The problem of preserving the seeds in the tropical climate of Guam from harvest until the next planting season has been solved by the federal agricultural experiment station on that island by devising a simple container made of glass, so constructed by cement or other slowly volatile oil to make it moisture, insect and rat proof. Seeds from insects and insects are properly dried when placed in the tank will keep in good condition and maintain their germinating power indefinitely.

The Land of "Will I Ever"
Things are not just what they seem.
There the "Has Been" and the "Was Not."
Gently slide down Easy Street,
There the "Will ya" and the "Won't ya."
Play on harps of Silver Tongues
And the "Gimmies, ain't he got 'em."
Dance to music that's been sung,
O, this land of "Will I Ever,"
"Don't you worry," and all that
Is the Land of Easy Goers
Where the Live One hangs his hat.
—Twice Told Tales.

CONCLUSIONS CONCERNING COLOR

It has been pointed out that not only the absolute and intensity of light, but its color, must be considered in estimating its power to set off the "detail." Experiment shows that most persons are short sighted for blue and violet light. When patterns are illuminated alternately with red, green and blue light, it is found that for ease of seeing minute details blue and green light are preferable to red for short distances, but that at greater distances red light gives best results.
