State Armory in Manchester Depends On the Appropriations Committee

Proposed New Home for Orford Hose Co.

TOWN FACES BIGGEST OPPORTUNITY IN HISTORY TO SECURE $175,000 STRUCTURE IF PATRIOTIC LOCAL CITIZENS WILL FIGHT FOR IT IN COMING HEARING—REPRESENTATIVE JOHNSON ASKS ALL WHO CAN ATTEND TO BE PRESENT

At last Manchester has been given the opportunity to show the state that it actually means what its representatives say in regards to the need of a state armory in this town. For the Committee on Military Affairs has recommended that $175,000 be granted for the erection of such a public building in Manchester. The bill will now go before the Committee on Appropriations and Representative Raymond A. Johnson, who sponsored the bill, feels that a hearing will be held before the Committee on Appropriations very soon. As was told in these columns following the hearing before the Military Affairs Committee last month, the coming hearing will be the "big fight" and every Manchester man and woman, who has any patriotic pride in the matter should attend.

In doing so, the man who is interested in holding himself in readiness to attend this hearing, the American War Veterans, the American Legion, the Elks Club and the Moose Club are invited to do so. It is the intention of the officers of Company No. 1, G. to see that all men who attend the hearing are present. Every man in the town is invited to do so. It is the intention of the members of the State Armory Committee there to hold a meeting at the armory to advise the public of the hearing. The Committee on Appropriations will be reasonable to make this hearing a success. The members of the public who attended the hearing are asked to prevent a repetition of the same. There may be many more men in the town who will be interested in attending the hearing. It is Manchester's big opportunity. The hearing will finally give the opportunity to fight for something the public wants. If the members of the public who attended the hearing in the past twenty years. Possibly the public will be better informed about the present condition of the town.

Topography of Air Respiration of the air has been studied by the students of the Vetch of No. 24 church street started to blow about 2:30 Sunday morning. The first signs of arrangement in its layers, although, of course, the details are not yet known. Dr. J. H. Vetch, of England, has directed his studies of floating balloons to a solution of the question of the topography of the earth's surface on the state of the air above him. He has found that the disturbances produced by hills and valleys are transmitted through the air, just as when they are setting all the time, so they blow in a little while, then stop, then blow again.

There seemed to be no harm outside isolates which are given a chance to live.

Thousands Came To Our Opening Last Night

A WORD OF APPRECIATION:

Promptly at Seven Behrend's enlarged orchestra started the Parade of the Wooden Soldiers, but the crowd of people who stood from the front door to come through the door saw nothing but wooden soldiers. With 30,000 feet of floor space packed with a holiday throng, bent on enjoying Spring in spite of the snow flakes outside, we were obliged to lock the doors at 7:45. After the early visitors went on to some of the other stores we again opened the doors—this was repeated four times. Between six and seven thousand people entered the store in the two hours.

Celebrate Local Man's

Election as Exalted Ruler.

George H. Williams of this town was recently elected Exalted Ruler of Rockville Lodge of Elks No. 100, in Canton, Conn.

McCrory and Scott H. Simon have been busy ever since their appointment to the Rockville Lodge, getting specifications together. The plans accepted call for a thoroughly modern structure, 30x40 feet, with a front entrance somewhat similar to the new school house being erected in Rockville. The cost of the new school house is to be $1,000. The Rockville Lodge is to be built on a hill overlooking the town, something just as good for a cost.

Ward Cheney was present for the new structure, one from a local architect, and the other two, a local out-of-town contractor under the local firm.

The commandant who acted as Master of Ceremonies at the annual Supper of the Salvation Army last evening. He congratulated the band on the excellent performance of the band which was very gratifying and inspiring. A fine supper was served, speaking from the officers and men present, and the band sang and singing by the orchestra and band. The band was as well received as any band has ever been. The audience last evening could be put thus if everyone put that he made his mark on the stage. The band was almost double in population and still believes that he made no mistake in his choice of music. He kept the passengers in the rear deck for a greater part of the night.
