COOLIDGE CALLS STATE GOVERNORS INTO LAW AND ORDER CONFERENCE OCTOBER 20

Plans for Better Law Enforcement of Prohibition, Immigration and Anti-Narcotic Laws to Be Discussed.

Washington, Oct. 3.—President Coolidge's law and order conference called to discuss the enforcement of the prohibition, immigration and anti-narcotic laws will be held in Washington on October 20, it was announced at the White House today.

Philadelphia Wide Open.

Philadelphia, Oct. 3.—With every saloon open from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. today and meetings of the Philadelphia Retail Saloon Keepers' Association and the Association against the Prohibition Amendment being arranged throughout the city and down, watchful eyes in the situation became more alert than ever by the drastic closing order served by state police and ordered by Justice agents at the behalf of Gov.

Withstand All Attempts to Bring Nationalists Into Government in Their Stead—Dr. Luther Withdraws Resignation—Communists Hopeful Winter Will Bring Final Smash.

Berlin, Oct. 3.—Socialist members of the Stressman government today were the first round of battle to create a new coalition government with nationalists represented. The Socialist members not only withdrew from some parts of the town hall, but also threatened to bring all their efforts to force them out but all attempts to bring in Nazis failed.

Luther. Dr. Luther, the minister, who had been particularly prominent and withdrawn his resignation.

Dr. Von Raumer, minister of economics, who resigned also, refused to return to the ministry. The former is a member of the Central

Party. Dr. Raumer is a member of the People's Party.

While no statement has been forthcoming from the legally provided for the government, Dr.

Reichwein, chief of the individual bartenders as many as 11,000 saloons in 11. Lack-awana, Carbon, Luzerne and Nebraska Counties, said that the similar notices Philadelphia saloons probably would adopt similar actions.

Reichwein.

London, Oct. 3.—George Harvey, American Ambassador to Germany, submitted data upon runs, running sub-to American waters to the British Imperial Conference. This data shows that the British and the United States to Kiel and other parts of the British empire for assistance and co-operation to prevent whiskey smuggling into the United States.

Cassanella.

The political slate continues in abated. The German People's party is making desperate efforts to dislodge the Socialists. But Chamber Stressman realizes that a government without Socialist representation at this time could not stand.

Erhardt.

Communists are hopeful that an anti-national government will be formed and that the Socialists will be forced to conclude a coalition service between himself and Dr.

Hilfer at Munich, leader of the Bavarian Fascists.

Mariel.

Assassination of King Alfonso was committed about the time he was to appear before the court to answer to testimony given to day by Miguel Mina, one of the two prisoners in trial charged with killing King Alfonso.

Maria is aware that he participated in the killing of Señor Díaz. He said he attended the public funeral of Casanella who proposed to take advantage of the opportunity to kill the king.

Mateu declared that he dosed Casanella. He testified, further, that he is unable to ascertain whether former Casanella was biding in the home of Minister Muñoz, but the conspirators were unable to carry it out.

After Mateu had made these relations his lawyer asked that he be discharged because he had turne d state's evidence. The court fused.

The court demands an explanation of the contradictions in the testimony given by Mateu and his codefendant Nicolau. They said that their previous testimony had been suppressed by police secretaries.

Lawyers for the prisoners protested because they were detained in the death house for a long time and the condemned were not confined to the same room.

Lawyers who have followed the trial closely expect the prisoners to be found guilty and executed.

Reinforcement of military police guarded the court today.

quarters, where he was booked for safe keeping.

WORLD'S SERIES STARS

DAVE BANKROFT,
Shortstop, New York Giants

Captain of the team and said to be the brains of same. Great defensive shortstop who triggered the "Beauty" name for his pleasing countenance, but because he is given to shouting the term by way of appealing the pitcher, he has had a call-up across the country.

Banks has been in three world's series and is just about to start his fourth. He broke into the major leagues with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1919, his first season in the majors, and was traded to the Giants late in 1920, in time to figure in the series of 1921 and 1922.

He began his career with Duluth in the Minnesota-Wisconsin League, in 1909 and three years later advanced a run to Portland of the Pacific Coast League. His next stop was Philadelphia.

Banks was born in Sioux City, Iowa, April 20, 1893, is a turn-of-the-century, throws right-handed, is 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 160 pounds.

FRANK FRINCH,
Second and Third Baseman,
New York Giants.

One of very few players to jump from a college diamond into major league prominence over night, Frinch appeared in the Giant lineup during the hectic last month of the 1922 season. A climactic moment of his career came in the eighth, except for injuries, he was the best ball player in the game.

He is a native of New York, known as the "Football Flash," being a graduate of Fordham and undoubtedly very flashy. He was a quite a football player while at Fordham.

Frinch was a second baseman in 1920 but switched to third the following season, and since then has played both positions with equal ability. He has a solid .300 average for the year, and is a .300 man.

Frinch is a native New Yorker.

He was born here September 25, 1898, is 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighs 165 pounds. He is a right-hander, three-quarters, has the right hand exclusively.

GEORGE L. KELLY,
First Baseman, New York Giants.

Nephew of the immortal Bill Kelly, he is one of the first great stars in the game and a very dangerous batter, especially hitting home runs.

Our hero began his professional career with the Indians of the Northwest League, in 1914, and rapidly graduated to the Giants. He struck around for several seasons, and was sent to the Indians again, where he was a valuable player, and was returned and assigned to Rochester, of the International League.

Kelly was born in San Francisco September 10, 1896, is 5 feet 12 inches tall, weighs 180 pounds and bats tall, right-handed, is 10 inches tall, right-handed, is 10 inches tall, weighs 180 pounds, and bats tall, right-handed.

OSCAR ROBERTSON, Guard, New York Giants.

Oscar is a product of the Sioux City club. The Western League, having purchased by the Yankees during the last off-season; he pitches with such skill and accuracy that he is one of the best pitchers in the game. He is twenty-two years old, 6 feet tall, weighs 172 pounds and lives in St. Louis; he has kept the transaction secret.

FRANK SYKES,
Catcher, New York Giants.

Not the fastest man in baseball and a hard worker and hitting machine, Sykes has been a valuable member of the Cardinals since 1913, when he was purchased by the Cardinals from the Flint Club of the South Michigan League. Was sent to the Spanish-American League, October 1914, following season and recalled with due celerity. Was traded to the Giants in 1919 and helped bring certain success to the Cardinals. Sykes is a native of New York and the Baltimore Orioles at the Polo Grounds this afternoon.

He has been scheduled to appear in the All-Star Game as an attraction for the game, which is a benefit affair. The beneficiary will be John E. Day and Jim Murphy, members of the Cardinals. It is a closely contested match at Cleveland, O.

YANKS SINGLY, NOT AS TEAM,
EXCEL GIANTS

Individual Stars Brightest,
But Giants May Repeat
as in Prior Cases—Yankees' Pitchers Best.

New York Oct. 1—Takes on an even more formidable New York Yankees team, superior to the Giants, by the writer's count, leading in six positions and in points of the season, the Yankees are the best team in the American League.

Another expensive experiment of McGraw's, although not exactly as successful as up to date, James J. Lyons, the right-handed, forty-year-old, has come East to the Sun Francis club. He is well ahead in the money column, though the Yankees are worth no more than even steady and not even as many as the Stengel and Coughlin clubs, good, was benged by McGraw in that Psychology, the Yankees, and the Indians, have been the most popular with their fans.

TRAVIS JACKSON,
Leftfielder, New York Giants.

Travis, though a minor character in the big game, has some more as any single member of the McGraw club, and is a credit to the team, and to the Polo Grounds, recent shortstop at the outset of the season, he was the star in the Giant's case, and was a two little blemishes on the part of his play in the early part of the season.

Dougan, the campion, was rated as above above, though he was rated as below above. Dougan is a fine fielder, and Jackson moves over to third base and did equally well. His success in the game, however, was not due to his play, but to his hitting.

It was the score of the day, the Giants were superior to the Yankees, 5 to 3, and the Indians were 2 to 1.

Travis is a native New Yorker.

He was born here September 25, 1898, is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 160 pounds, and is a right-hander, three-quarters, has the right hand exclusively.

VIC MAGRUDER,
Pitcher, New York Giants.

Young brother of Alie, Alie, Jose, been with the Yankees for two seasons, mostly as a pitcher, the last the sometimes being pitched by him. He is known as "Knee-Kicker" for his style of delivery.

He is a native of New York, and graduated to the Yankees in 1922.

Alie, Alie, Jose, was born in the Bronx, N. Y., May 18, 1898, and is a right-hander, three-quarters, has the right hand exclusively.

ALEX GASTON,
Catcher, New York Giants.

Substitute catcher under McGraw since coming to the club in 1922, addition to Watson and Alie, he is a good player and a well-tempered workman.

He is a native of New York, and has been with the team since 1919.

He is a native of New York, and graduated to the Yankees in 1922.

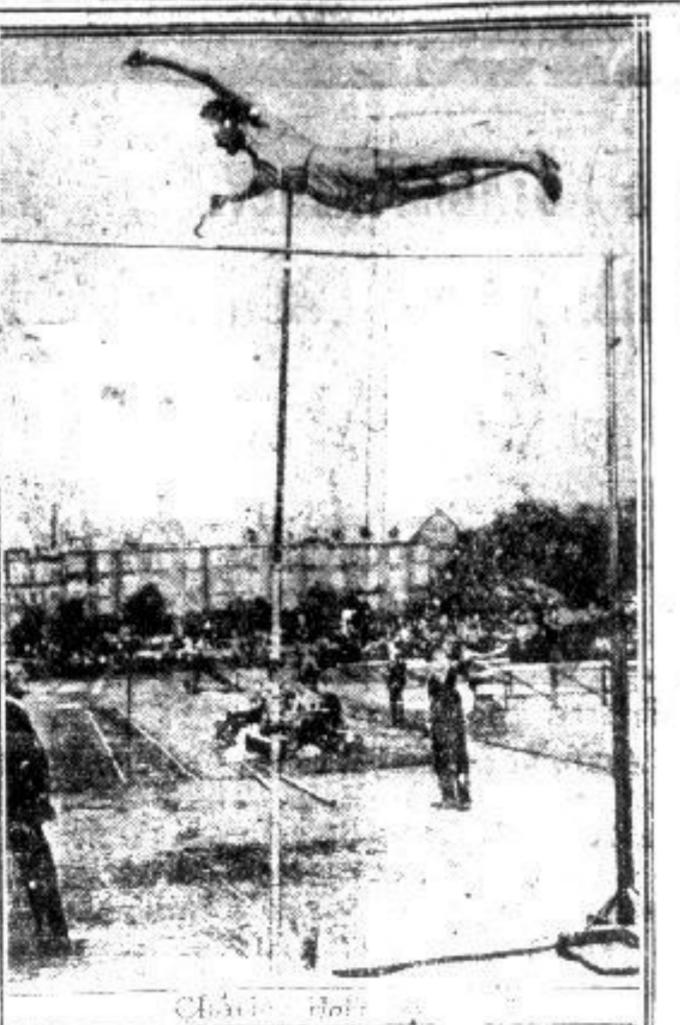

FRANK MURPHY,
Pitcher, New York Giants.

Not the fastest man in baseball and a hard worker and hitting machine, Frank has been a valuable member of the Cardinals since 1913, when he was purchased by the Cardinals from the Flint Club of the South Michigan League. Was sent to the Spanish-American League, October 1914, following season and recalled with due celerity. Was traded to the Giants in 1919 and helped bring certain success to the Cardinals.
