

YALE IS FAVORITE TODAY IN CLASH WITH PRINCETON

Crowd of 80,000 Expected to Witness Big Grid Contest Between Bulldog and Tiger at Yale Bowl.

Monster Crowd May Have to Witness Game Under Umbrellas—Princeton Backers Look to This Favorite to Spring Surprise on Yale.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 17.—Fifty golden years of athletic rivalry and competitive housewifery will be celebrated this afternoon in the Yale Bowl with the staging of the annual Yale-Princeton football game, under skies as dark as it will be almost villainous.

Fifty years ago, the first game of this great series was played; it is not an record that relations have ever been strained. We cannot say that it is football, but that it is football. Football will be played at the Yale Bowl this afternoon and it will be football the like of which the Big Three series seldom know.

Princeton, the short-end choice, the disciplined member of the big tri-ty, has come here determined to retrieve defeat by Notre Dame and Harvard, and according to our information, will cast caution and forward passes to the four wide Yale will fight to preserve its un-learned state and bury the baggage of ethnic culture in modern Big Three tests. It was to be a large occasion, as always.

A matter of nearly 80,000, limited only by the capacity of the bowl, will sit in at the proceedings and may have occasion to resort to umbrellas and blankets. The forecast is for showers, and in the event of rain, Yale's already grand pre-game advantage in everything except Van Gehie's punting, will fall heir to additional favor. A heavy fall and hail will aid Yale on Yale might go as high as 2 to 1 if the heavens weep.

Yale, however, has been favored before to land its Tiger, but seldom has made good in recent years. The Bulldog won in 1916 and 1921, but was a party to an un-ingenious flap on other occasions. Seemingly, the Blue is inclined to play a moral but the Princeton attempts to ally with Harvard and Princeton this year all New Haven is being held that it cannot happen again. As that, Yale leads on the returns from the entire series with 25 victories to Princeton's 13, nine games crisscross in a tie.

Reckoned on the basis of comparative records and managers, Yale is an absolute sure thing bet. It has a better forward line, built around Mitchell, Blair and Lovejoy than Princeton can muster. It has in our opinion, superior ends to Luman and Bingham, with Holman at Deaver in reserve. It has what appears to be two great backfields, with the best full-backers on the squad, Neillinger and Stevens, walking on the sidelines to run will through a three Princeton team in a half-hour. Also, finally, it has a kick-team, a real quarterback, the first Yale football has known since the dark ages.

Altogether, Yale would seem to be in for a romp if it was not for the fact that Princeton is Princeton. The Tigers have not a great football team this season but, as a rule, they don't need one. They are the greatest opportunists in the East and can always match a loose ball with a Princeton Army-Pit. They are, perhaps, the most jittery opponents of the modern game in all too conservative east and with Van Gehie's signals flouting down the field can be depended upon to take advantage of every trick.

They also can be depended upon to fight back like the family itself. The Princeton team with its back to the wall is a fearsome thing.

Princeton's backfield is made up of four players who are all British. The Princeton team with its back to the wall is a fearsome thing.

TRANSMISSION OF NEWS BY RADIO WILL BE GREAT STEP FORWARD

Greatly Increase Amount of News Transmitted and Be Received in Newspaper Offices on Ordinary Model Typewriting Machine

New York, Nov. 17.—Transmission of news by radio has been made practical by perfection of devices that will effect a revolution in the newspaper's work. Editor and publisher announced in their news today that the new device, which will greatly increase the amount of news that may be transmitted, overcomes the delay now incurred in the transmission and receipt of news that may be received only by papers with the proper receiving apparatus and ordinary model typewriting machine.

TARIFF ISSUE IN NEXT ELECTIONS MAY SPLIT UP BRITISH POLITICS

London, Nov. 17.—According to a report from the British Government will hold a general election next month. The issue will be simple—a choice by Great Britain between "Protection" and "Free Trade."

The decision has followed in Premier Baldwin's declaration that the unemployment situation in Great Britain can only be cured by "protecting" the home market. His aim is to assist British manufacturers by preventing import of cheap foreign goods, manufacture under the Regia of various currencies.

The general election meets with much support throughout Britain. Even the harshest Free Trader is in sympathy with the idea of protecting the British trader, operating under the agency of the League of Nations, successfully competing with the home British manufacturer. But as to the general outcome of the scheme, much criticism is felt. "Protection" is not popular in Britain and the whole hostile acceptance is the necessary acquiescence of Premier Baldwin's plan.

It is but twenty years ago since the late Joseph Chamberlain split the entire fabric of British politics by his insistence on protection. He had his own reasons for this, but he also used the unlikeliest of arguments to justify his policy. He said that "protection" was necessary to give the British manufacturer a fair chance in the world. He said that "protection" was necessary to give the British manufacturer a fair chance in the world.

CENTENNIAL COMMITTEE REPORTS PROGRESS IN RAISING FUNDS

Offer of Frank Cheney Jr. Guaranteeing to Raise $6,500 Has Had Big Stimulus in Effort to Wipe Out Deficit.

Spirit and enthusiasm in the Centennial Committee's campaign for the raising of this sum among a number of contributors. This is of course a very generous offer and the workers are determined that the $6,000 from the townspeople raising $6,000. As a result of this proposal, Centennial workers have gone out with energy and determination and their preliminary reports indicate that they are making gratifying progress.

The finance committee was pleased today to learn that the number of donations of small amounts is increasing rapidly. Some days ago an impression went out that only donations of large sums were being secured. This was incorrect as it has been agreed that the larger the number of contributors the better. It is hoped that the townspeople as a whole will be an active part in supplying the fund; to meet the unpaid Centennial bills, this is based on the fact that it was the town's birthday and that it is fitting that the community in its entirety should be the donor.

Mail Contributions. The finance committee states today that it will not be possible to have collectors make calls on all prospective contributors. This would entail labor and cost and a small army of workers. A few corps of collectors will visit the business organizations, but much of the remainder of the work will have to be done by mail. Contributions should be mailed to the Centennial Committee, House & Hall Building, South Manchester, Conn. Checks may be made payable to the Centennial committee.

Mr. Cheney's Plan. The proposition of Mr. Frank Cheney, Jr., did not mean that he would personally give $6,500. It meant that he would guarantee the raising of this sum among a number of contributors. This is of course a very generous offer and the workers are determined that the $6,000 from the townspeople raising $6,000. As a result of this proposal, Centennial workers have gone out with energy and determination and their preliminary reports indicate that they are making gratifying progress.

WAR VETERAN BUREAU INVESTIGATION DEVELOPING INTO SCANDAL REVELATIONS

Original Object of Hearings Apparently Lost Sight of in Attempt of Lawyers to Bare Attacks on Former Director.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The New York investigation of the U. S. Veterans Bureau, started as a "training field" today with the inquiry rapidly developing a record of alleged abuses and improprieties on the part of men and women who have been familiar figures about Washington.

Charges of graft and embezzlement against Colonel Charles B. Forbes, former director, apparently have been submerged in attacks upon his private life. In retaliation, witness as friendly to him were attacking the character of Elias H. Mortimer, the government's star witness.

Because of the protracted proceedings, a national session will be held tonight. Scores of fashionable gown-women strolled the committee room today to hear more spy testimony.

Instead of dry accounts on government "red tape" there were cry of scandal as "she was crying, she had been beaten," "I was weary of an illegal operation and drunken parties—all of which are now in the record. Society's delicate testimony there could be more of such intriguing gossip as "sweetheart, you are my only girl" and the caught his wife riding with this man in the park after dark" all of which now is a part of the record. Rattling full statistics, they expected to hear further developments in such events as the "rule swimming party," the cable sent Forbes by a famous Broadway actress named "Peggy" and her participation in an Atlantic City "hotel party" as a sequel to the statement that found Forbes in his wife's room already written into the official transcript.

Of the four weeks testimony to date observers noted that only four hours have been devoted to such matters as the character of the witness, a national session will be held tonight. Scores of fashionable gown-women strolled the committee room today to hear more spy testimony.

PROHIBITED USE OF FOAM

King Edward I of England Ordained Execution of Man Found Guilty of Burning His Own Fuel

In 1263 King Edward I of England issued a proclamation prohibiting the use of bituminous fuel as a coal substitute.

The bituminous fuel was used in the construction of the early ironworks.

Then followed the installation of large quantities of the highly inflammable gas, "spirit of coal."

In 1445 Mansfield isolated a most important compound, benzene, in this oil product.

From 1600 to the present day the research chemist has subjected coal tar to the most searching scrutiny known to modern science.

His efforts have been rewarded by the discovery of no less than 250 intermediates from which are produced the most gorgeous dyes.

Microbes are necessary to improve the quality of the product.

Paris, Nov. 17.—The head of the Pasteur Institute, Dr. Roux, revealed his purpose today in a public statement.

DAILY NEWS LETTER

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 17.—The great force of public opinion in this state which has been written of in the past, is now being evoked by the self-evident evasions, trickeries, subterfuges and open corruption brought on by disregard of the prohibition law.

The important figures in state and national politics who are leaning every day to the campaign for dry at a plain statement of their intentions.

But there are few places where the law is so strictly enforced as in the city of Des Moines.

The law is a fact, and our duty as Americans is to obey the law.

Two lawyers, Mr. State, Mr. Attorney General, and Mr. Attorney General, were called by the legislature.

Quantity matters in the case of the state pledged their support to the campaign for a strict enforcement of the law.

Some carriers in their states, New York, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and New Jersey, are starting the idea of national highways.

It is impossible to improve the working of the law at present as it is to work outside the law.

Could Avert Many Mine Accidents By Installation of Safety Devices

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—Two thirds of the fatal and serious accidents in the bituminous coal industry could be prevented by the universal adoption of safety devices already in successful operation in some of the mines in this country.

The American Association for Labor Legislation, in an address before the annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science at Washington, Pa., today declared that the installation of safety devices in the coal mines would avert many accidents.

When Your Little Girl Grows Up

MANY problems will face your daughter in the years to come. Think how much easier it would be for her to meet them if she did not have the "money problem" to solve.

In your will, or by a trust agreement made now, you can set aside funds to provide an income for your daughter during her lifetime. By designating this company as your trustee, you can make certain that the income will be paid regularly and promptly.

Consider what this might mean to your daughter. An unfulfilling income; freedom from pressure for loans or gifts by relatives and others; the serenity which comes as a result of relief from financial cares.

You can do all this for your daughter by establishing a trust fund with us.

Ask for a copy of our booklet, "Safeguarding Your Family's Future." It contains valuable information on how you can protect your family by means of trust arrangements.
