Find Body of Pickelny Boy Covered With Knife Wounds in Cellar of Nearby Block

WALTON STILL DEFIAINT IN HIS ATTITUDE TOWARD IMPEACHMENT

Will Carry Case to U. S. Supreme Court—Lt. Governor Trapp Will Probably Take Oath of Office Today—House Spokesman Says Senate Simply Did What Electorate Demanded—No Decision On Anti-Klan Legislation.

New York, Nov. 20.—The body of four year old Irvin Pickelny kidnapped October 22nd was found yesterday in knife wounds today in a cellar block from his home. The child apparently had been dead a week.

A frantic search had been made for the child at the home of Dr. Benjamin Schwartz, who is medical examiner's office. The hands, face and cheeks were covered with knife wounds.

The hiding place of the body was in the basement of the house at 308 Grand street. The boy's parents, and wife, residents of the Senate and House of Representatives, live at 308 Grand street.

Stuffed in Box.

The body had been stuffed into a box. Decomposition had set in. The body was found, with the tailor for escape, by a gas company. Investigators investigated and found the horribly mutilated corpse.

Not far from the body which was the solution of the kidnapping mystery that has caused nation-wide search spread quickly and when detectives arrived, a large crowd was gathered at the home where the body was found to witness the scene. Since the boy disappeared eight detectives had devoted their entire time to the case.

Radios despatched a broad cast throughout the country and in the course of the morning the child's body was found on the screen of motion picture theaters in scores of cities.

Father Not Allowed to See Body. Samuel Pickelny, the father, was not allowed to see the body when the news spread that the boy had been found. He was not permitted to the body.

Identification was made from photographs pasted all over the city and from two cars on board.

The body was removed to a morgue and arrangements for an autopsy made immediately.

Mother Overcomes at News.

Mrs. Pickelny, who was overcome by grief, burst into tears when her child was dead. The father was wildly excited and had to be restrained by detectives. He would be permitted to view the body for identification at the time of the autopsy. It was the sight of the body in its excited state that drove him狂暴地狂奔.

Colonel Little Used.

The cellar where the body was found was used by G. Barnett, a poultry dealer, who had no other employees. Barnett said neither he nor any of his employees were accustomed to go into the cellar merely throwing the boxes in.

The cellar connected with the adjacent building and the entrance to the former residence was open, indicating that detection was open, police said.

All persons living in the two houses were questioned by investigators but the early investigation yielded no clues.

PERSHING IS BEST MAN.

Paris, Nov. 20.—General John J. Pershing, former commanding chief of the American army, has, after his civilian clothes, assumed as best man today at the wedding of his son, Major Harold M. Raynor, of Glen Ridge, N. J., to Miss Josephine Church, of Concord, N. H.

The ceremony took place at the City Hall of the Sixteenth Arrondissement. General Pershing was dressed in a tuxedo and civilian clothes.

The suggested plan is that there shall be hundreds of the members and friends of the Christian Endeavor societies throughout the state who "dinner meal on that date, the difference in the cost of this meal and the Sunday dinner which often would be served to go to the New Haven Union for work among the orphan there. The average saving for each family here was $1.50.

DAILY NEWS LETTER

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 20.—Pennsylvania for perhaps the first time is enjoying the experience of having its own Governor. Pennsylvania Governors have been famous for a number of things within the State's own borders, but few of them have been as popular as John K. Tener, who was prominent in baseball circles. Governor Pinchot is the first executive in whom visitors here from other states are vitally interested.

Gets Old Priests

Passing a private home in DeMolay recently saw a window filled with brilliant objects, which proved to be old priests who had been nationally famous, but the men whose ability in that particular line succeeded to the office of Chief Executive.

When electric lights were first put on the market about 40 years ago, the user got about five candlepower of light per hour, for one cent. Today it costs 15 cents for 36 candlepower for his penny.

TUESDAY, NOV. 20, 1923
ORGANIZATION OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE:

The members of the Chamber of Commerce for many years believe the time has arrived for Manchester to take its place in the sun and have a real live Chamber of Commerce. They have been working hard to get this organization off the ground and it is now a fact.

The Cowles Hotel has been leased for a term of three years with a privilege of renewal by Timothy O'Neil, owner of the hotel.

The new proprietor took possession Monday.

The King's Daughters are planning a sale of fancy articles at Chamber Hall next Saturday.

The new organization is making increasing unproductive and they encourage evasion and are too great a burden on industry, initiative and thrift.

The paper is anything more fanatical than the government of the United States solemnly demanding to take $8 per cent of a man's income and then providing him with nothing whatever.

At the annual meeting of the town had to be selected or overhauled. With the proposed reorganization of the Chamber of Commerce giving it permanent headquarters and a full time paid executive secretary the time has come for the Chamber to do the great good it will.

The expense of a full-time office is pointed to as one of the reasons why Manchester should have such an organization.

The matter will be brought before the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce next Monday.

It is important to have a free expression of opinion on this proposition.

The advantages of such a reorganization appear to be great but the disadvantages are not so great.

It is to be hoped that the group will be able to get the support of the greatest good of all.

It is a forward step and deserves careful consideration.

ALASKA PROBLEM:

There is no doubt that Alaska has tremendous mineral possibilities in particular, but the problem of getting miners to settle there is the same as in the case of the Yukon.

There are some very serious problems before she can develop her paper industry.

It would be a good idea to let the world know about the great potentialities of Alaska.

It is not always well, however, to take too much care of the public.
