Copier of Wisconsin for Speaker of House Instead of Gillette to Be Price of G. O. P. Harmony Congressmen Nelson Asserts—Insurgents to Draw Up Plans in Advance of Republican Caucus Set for Dec. 1.

Washington, Nov. 23.—The official plans of the Progressive group in the House of Representatives for their forthcoming fight with the regular Republican organization will be drawn up at a conference to be held here next week in advance of the Republican caucus scheduled for Dec. 1, it was learned today.

Discussing the plans of the Progressive group, Representative Philip M. Nelson, of Wisconsin, said that the organization of the House for business will be blocked until concessions have been made to the Progressives through support of Rep. Henry Allen Cooper of Wisconsin for speaker. This is expected to prevent Speaker Gillette from getting a majority vote of the House members necessary to his reelection.

Outstanding demands of Progressives are changes in House rules to allow more passage of all legislation reported from committee selective jurisdiction and advance legislation for House action and representation by the Progressive group.

With these reforms and concessions secured the Progressives believe it will be possible for the Republican to secure passage of the important bills in which they are particularly interested. Endorsement by the Republican leaders of the legislative program of the Progressives is not considered essential if the other demands are not granted.

Resolution providing the most changes in the House rules are being drafted by Representative Hamilton, of New York, who has worked on them since last spring.

Secure Democrat Cooperation

At that time there was much consideration given the subject by the Progressive leaders and an agreement reached as to the general character of the changes desired. In this work the Progressives are said to have had the assistance of some of the Democratic parliamentarians of the house.

They expect help from the Democrats in getting the new rules adopted.

Three, or possibly two, Progressives in each of the important legislative committees of the House would enable the Progressives to hold the balance on such committees. It is assumed that the Republican majority in the House will accede in general to the demands of the Democratic leaders for larger representation on the large Democratic membership.

Republicans Oppose Several Demands

There is opposition among the public leaders to the important demands that they have given eleven of the twenty-five members of the Ways and Means Committee, five of the twelve members of the Rules Committee and thirteen of the thirty-five members of the Appropriations Committee. Contacts over these demands may result in a temporary coalition of Democrats and Progressives, although Democratic leader Garrett said today that on decision concerning such a course by the Democrats could be reached until the December first caucus preliminary to the meeting of Congress on December third.

France Will Act Alone Without Allies, is Menaced Says Poincare

Paris, Nov. 23.—Mr. Poincare is expected tomorrow to declare to the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon.

The Premier continued that France's security policy is dictated by facts. First, the Anglo-American agreement, (for France's security) was never signed as a pact subsequent to the Versailles Treaty. LONDON PLEASUED WITH REPARATIONS REPORT

London, Nov. 23.—American publication of the Reparations report of Myron T. Herrick, United States Ambassador to France, caused a sensation in the British press as well as among gratification in official circles today. Official claim that it has for the English viewpoint on reparations were forcibly before the attention of the world. The Daily Telegraph columnist, "The State Department report at Washington may have permitted the report to trickle out in order to expose the French position." It is reported here that the government forbade publication of the Herrick report in Paris newspapers. Officials declared that Myron T. Herrick, the United States Ambassador in Paris, had no authority to give out any part of the report which he called to Secretary Hughes, and they were doubtful if anyone, outside of those connected directly with the government, had access to the report. It was also stated that an investigation would be made to find out if the report actually got out of official hands and how it took place.

Reorganization of C. of C. Gaining Favor

From the reports of those who are canvassing the situation in regard to the reorganization of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, it is quite evident that there is a real desire on the part of the forward-looking men of the town that such a plan as has already been outlined should be put into operation as soon as possible, so that Manchester may begin to enjoy the "fully paid" benefits which naturally accrue from cooperative effort toward improved business conditions and civic advancement. Invitations have been sent out for the annual meeting of the Chamber to be held next Monday evening at the Sheridan Hotel, beginning with dinner at 6:30 o'clock, to be followed by talks from both local and outside men, among whom will be Mr. Arthur H. Andrews, secretary of the New Bedford board of commerce. The plan of reorganization with the proposed new by-laws will be presented to the members for their consideration and decision and the meeting will be open for such discussion of the questions involved as may be deemed necessary. Quite a large number of invitations have already been received and indications point to one of the largest meetings the chamber has had for some time. For several years there has been more or less talk about having a real, live Chamber of Commerce, but never before has the point been reached where it could be presented to the membership. This being the case, all members should be present at the meeting Monday evening so that a genuine expression of feeling may be recorded. Some of the self-sacrificing men's penmanship all human undertakings.
