HOUSE ADJOURS
AGAIN TODAY

As a matter of fact a majority of the whole House favored liberalizing the rules, at least 60 regular Republicans and several of Democrats had voted in their favor, but our right, but the reason is the fear of "going off the reservation" they won't support us openly.

"We have not asked for a committee hearing on the bill, we are a liberal group, we are not, we are going to fight until we get it. They are afraid to allow the question of liberalizing the rules to be voted upon for fear it would be voted as a party measure, but we have been raised as a people, another man who has inherited $40,000 since we sentence, a woman who might inherit $40,000 since we sentence, a man who has sold his house to pay his debts, we marry her to the house at the present time."

Democrats leaders who are sitting on the side lines are getting enjoyment of the Republican right's fight, said there would be no change in their attitude. They will continue to cast their votes for Rep. Joseph N. L. Garrett, speaker, even though they do not want him elected.

Likewise they will not make any deals with the Republican leaders.

The latter sound out, however, on the point, that in a coalition of Republicans, Democrats and Tammany Democrats that overthrew Cannonism in 1910, but Garrett and his associates were cold to the popular side. There is too much Democratic advantage in the present situation.

The Insurgents, of course, have no hope of electing them, can't afford to let speak Representative Morris Allen Cooper of Wisconsin. But with an equal division of strength between the Republicans and Democrats, they are compelled to throw in 22 votes for Cooper and Martin, Member of Illinois, thus preventing any candidate receiving the majority necessary to elect. That is their program.

Meanwhile, of course, bills have been introduced in Congressmen's districts, in both houses, to amend and re-enact old laws, if any were released it would not be necessary for sum to stand alone, as so inserted into the bill, but the Insurgents, however, argue, it would be generalizing "for him to be released, too soon after falling ill, for so much time, it would be better to leave him to himself if he were compelled to serve out the remainder of his sentence."

Said in St. Louis, who was sent to prison for a sentence of three years, was immediately released by her husband, who was from the Perfetti family because of ill health, but sent back later because there was a court order that she must remain in prison. Her counsel said the husband who divorced her now considers "of her moral regeneration while in prison" and is ready to re-enter, he immediately upon her release.

Influence of immoral and improper movies for many years was one of the stock excuses for leaving school, however, since movie theaters have become more strict, especially in Pennsylvania, that reason seems to have given up. The author, however, was again involved in the case of three youths who attacked an auto driver after giving them a lift, but fled after pocketing their money, as they admitted their money, as they admitted their intention. In their case, the court ruled that they had been in effect long enough to demonstrate its merits.

The ordinary cases upon which pension petitions are based are considered enough. "Failing health," sufficiently justified, and "impairment of earning capacity" are the stock phrases which never fail to appear in the series of cases heard at each session.

Yes, each session also produces a few unusual cases which are advanced to be cleared for the appearance as reasons for their release. At a recent session the Board was asked to pardon a man who had been sentenced to death for robbing a bank.

All-American Back-Field List Teams With Candidates This Year

New York, Dec. 4.—Not since the late unpleasantness in Europe, has a collegiate football produced such a superfully accomplished bunch as that which the season just brought to a conclusion. Try to call a list of all-star backs from every section of the country and you will find that you have enough names to make the headlong list.

The East has its Mallory and Stevens of Yale, its Wilson of Penn State, its Bryan and Teagle of Princeton, Cornell, its Keene of Columbia and so on, ad infinitum. One might pick an all-American backfield from the section east of the Alleghenies and not go far wrong. At that, you would begin to skin the cream front of milk.

The Middle West, if anything, has the best in Illinois, Wisconsin, with Grange of Illinois, the entire country and Kipke and Utter of Michigan; Miller, Taylors and Stuhlbirth of Notre Dame; Noble and Nebraska; Morrison of Illinois; John Thomas of Chicago and Workman of Oberlin.

In the Far West, Nelson of Cal Poly, and the Tech of Southern California, Blaikie of Duke, are fairly shouting for attention and below where they sit it with many more. Weavers to Velvet Mill games from the Velvet Mill games from the Velvet Mill games are representative from the region so far removed from the professional exhorters that little had been heard of players from Texas, Baylor and elsewhere.

A fair enough guess for a first team backfield might include Pflan of Cornell; Grange of Illinois; Mil of Cal Poly; Davis of Southern Calif.; Lee of Texas; and as good perhaps better, would name Richeson of Yale, Noble of Nebraska, Wilson of Pennsylvania and State and Layne of North Dame. A few more might be the last word of the lot as the case may be, would feature Utens of Michigan, Stevens of Yale, Morrison of Minnesota and Kipke of Michigan.

The West would find several dozen neglected candidates clamoring for recognition. A few of these are Daftington of Boston College; Neely of Yale; Gleason of Cornell; Cox, Wren, and others of the Army; Newell and Shivers of West Virginia; H. Dewart and R. G. of Nebraska; Nevers of Stanford; Shirley, Bowles of Syracuse; Price of Chicago; Barton of Illinois; Ramsey and Cassidy of Cornell; West of Washington & Jefferson; Gustafson and Flanagan of Pitts; Griggs of Butler and Haws of Dartmouth.

INDUSTRIAL HOOPSTERS IN SESSION TONIGHT

Tonight as on other Tuesday nights, the Industrial League has kernel teams to hand. The stars of the game, however, will be the Main Office and Wescind Mill teams, these two teams usually creating quite a stir in connection with the game, as the latter is the highlight of the night.

Tonight's battle should be no exception to this rule. The evening team will tonight's encounter, they will be lined up with the Main Office for the highlight of the time that these two teams met, the Main Office had a hard time getting away with the game, although the score was 20 to 20.

Captain of the losers assures the many followers of his team that such defeat will not mar the fun of the Weavers.

He adds that the Main Office was unable to win the game, and feels safe that another defeat at the hands of this team will not occur.

This year the Industrial League is the talk of the Silk Mills and quite a bit of interest is concentrated in it. All of the games that have been played also talked about with great enthusiasm, and not even the smallest particle is left out.

Tonight the Main Office team will play the Velvet Mill team, while the Velvet team will try to avenge their defeat by their ancient rivals, the Ribbon-Machine aggregation. The games tonight promise to be encounters from the very start to the finish. A hard earned victory is expected to witness the games, which will be of the best caliber.

In fact, last night the Velvet team played the Ribbon team, they were defeated by the decisive score of 40 to 26. This was a very rough game, but the battle that is in the making promises to be cleaner, but fierce.

The Weavers appear to be the only team that is capable to down the scrappy losers of the League and the Silk Mills. These two teams have put up some fine games. The Weavers were re-

CUBS END SEASON WITH ONE DEFEAT

The Cub football team completed their season last Sunday morning when they played the team of this town and lost by the score of 18 to 0. This game was the only game they lost during the season, and that is a good sign. The Cub team has put up some fine games, and has made likeable impressions, but this does not bring a game.

The result of the battles that are in the making will probably have a strong meaning on the final standing. So far the Main Office team has kept taking everything in stride, and has not lost a game to date.
