PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS on WILLS and TRUSTS

Your Securities

Do you own bonds or stocks? What will become of them after your death?

Unless you leave a will, your administrator may be required to sell them, whether or not the market is favorable to their immediate disposal, and the proceeds may be distributed in accordance with the laws governing distribution of such property.

By making a will, you can direct who shall receive the securities or the proceeds and in what amounts. Furthermore, you can name this company as your trustee to hold the securities intact for the benefit of your family or to sell them at a favorable time, and hold the proceeds in trust.

Under the trust arrangement you can assure to your family the best possible income consistent with safety, and make certain that the money will not be unwisely invested.
