We are now in the fourth week of this annual selling of furniture at special re-

We want you to come and see this display, the finest in New England, before you make selection elsewhere. One of the very first things that impresses mayone entering the Furniture Department, is the high standard of quality, and the low prices at which it is marked. Remember that when you buy furniture of the quality we display, you have our assurance and guarantee that it is going to wear for a long period, and that the style as well is going to last.

We have just received forty new, very beautiful ,overstuffed Living Room Suites from Karpen and Brother, a very high grade maker, and placed them on our floors at the February Sale prices.

DINING ROOM FURNITURE

Today in furnishing one's Dining Room, the old styles are not used, having been replaced by reproductions of master craftsmen of olden times. Sets built along these lines are both artistic in design, and equally as strong as the heavier looking sets, which they have replaced. Some of the choice patterns displayed here are in Antique, American Walnut and Mahogany. The display pre-
