We are now in the fourth week of this annual selling of furniture at special re-

We want you to come and see this display, the finest in New England, before you make selection elsewhere. One of the very first things that impresses mayone entering the Furniture Department, is the high standard of quality, and the low prices at which it is marked. Remember that when you buy furniture of the quality we display, you have our assurance and guarantee that it is going to wear for a long period, and that the style as well is going to last.

We have just received forty new, very beautiful ,overstuffed Living Room Suites from Karpen and Brother, a very high grade maker, and placed them on our floors at the February Sale prices.

DINING ROOM FURNITURE

Today in furnishing one's Dining Room, the old styles are not used, having been replaced by reproductions of master craftsmen of olden times. Sets built along these lines are both artistic in design, and equally as strong as the heavier looking sets, which they have replaced. Some of the choice patterns displayed here are in Antique, American Walnut and Mahogany. The display pre-

The Woman and the Club Window

MAN'S interest in women doesn't stop when A he marries. All men take interest in all women -at least in their appearance. As an example-said one of a group looking out their club window:

"Look at that woman powdering her nose-improving her facial complexion, BUT-look at the red, roughened hand she's powdering with!"

CUCH hands are usually caused by common household soaps which irritate the skin, a condition you can avoid by choosing a household soap as carefully as you choose your toilet soap. To thousands of thinking women this means Kirkman's Soap.

For Kirkman's Soap, being free from irrritating lve, will not injure the hands or the most delicate fabrics. The perfect purity of its ingredients is new widely known-also the fact that it contains aboulutely no adulterants such as starch, tale or waterglass, which have no cleansing value.

For the sake of your hands always insist upon Kirkman's Soap.

Clara had often put it to her-self what she should do if Henry begged her to take him back. Her pride would never permit it. No, everything was at an end. But little Jim couldn't understand. He was always crying for the father who used to carry him on his back. The worst man shows the best side of his nature to a child. And, after all, there were good points to Henry.

However, in a few weeks she would be free. She would go away somewhere with the child, and there he would learn to forget.
Still, it was all very embarrassing, and little Jim, very miserable, longed for his father. He would wake up with a start in the middle of the night and cry for him. That was the hardest thing o bear-the boy's thinking that his father had come home. And then there came a wonderful day for Jim. It was on his way home from school, and there, stand-ing outside the candy shop, was his
