Chirpings for Milady by Cricket

Evil is necessary. As good, it has its profound source in nature, and the one cannot be drained without the other—Sorrow is the sister of joy, and their twin breaths in touching our chords cause them to vibrate in harmony. The breath of happiness alone would make a monotonous and wearisome sound, equivalent to silence—Anasthese.

In there anyone who does not know that old-time popular song, "Silver Threads Among the Gold" is the best loved romantic ballad of all times, but the woman who inspired it, Mrs. Harriette Dank, never had its tender prophesy fulfilled. She has been living in very reduced circumstances in a Brooklyn rooming house and died last week at the age of 82.

In 1874, Hart Pesse Dank, a young musician and singer, composed this tender love song for his young wife, while they were living happily together in New York City. The song made a great hit, and prosperity came to the young couple, but with it unhappiness came into the picture, which ended in a separation.

In 1908, Mr. Dank was found dead in a rooming house in Philadelphia. His last days were spent at his bed side and in his hand he clutched a copy of "Silver Threads Among the Gold." It is hard to grow old alone, "I should like to die tonight, And you should come in deep grief and weep."

For years while the song was being sung by lovers throughout the world, the woman who inspired it grew to feel the pinch of want and the loneliness of growing old alone.

He: "Well, if you won't you sister? But why do you say you'll be waster to me?"
She: "Why you see a sister is not supposed to return her brother's presents."

French Southern—Bake individual pastry shells in shallow muffin tins. Wash, soak and cook dried peas slowly, cooking until most of the water has evaporated. Add a teaspoon of a coarse sieve. To one cup of peach pulp add one-fourth cup of sugar, heat to the boiling point and pour slowly over the boiling peas and serve in the pastry shells with a spoonful of whipped cream on top.

Crust for shells—1 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 tablespoon shortening, cold water. Sift flour and salt, mix in shortening, add just enough water to make a stiff dough. Roll and make in muffin tins. Do not knead.

No cement will ever mend a broken promise.

At Paris showing of latest fashions, worn by their guests, interested in said to have been particularly shown in the simple, short, easily wearable styles in those who were wearing several-holed, button-down, up-and-down little frock which was more appreciated than one with a long, complicated train, for instance. Women, and the men with them, too, obviously, like frocks that need no special physical gifts to make them wearable.

In the Rev. Watson Woodruff's sermon yesterday, there was a little quotation which will bear repeating for it is full of the same truth and that which is human character is a good deal everyone can read.

Among the smart buttoned are those composed of plaid gingham box coats which are worn over frocks. Separate coats are also designed in gingham and in printed linen in floral designs.

Frocks are presented in printed silks and in striped cut silks in tailored models with contrasting piping.

A smart dress is conceived in electron striped silk, with red, green and yellow.

It is said that the Paris stores carry only enough black luster at the present time to fill the morning trade. The colors in present day luster are black, dark brown, medium gray, white, dark brown, gray, red, orange, yellow, green, blue, purple, and black. Chicken a la Cassaree—Dip into a shallow pan of buttered bread crumbs, and fry in a hot oil. Cook for each person served. Cut out a deep potato hole, and fill with the chicken. Cook in the oven until the chicken is tender. It will take about two hours. The bread should be prepared before the chicken is ready to cook.

Oysters with Macaroni—Two three-fourths of a cup of macaroni broken into inch pieces will make a good meal for two. Pour a layer of buttered crumbs, one of oysters, and a third of macaroni, using a half cup of crumbs and three-fourths of oysters. Repeat until all the oysters are used. Cook with buttered crumbs. Bake 30 minutes. Sprinkle with melted butter and cook until tender. It will take from ten to twenty minutes.

Train in a roasting pan. For three cups of cubes, chop the one small onion, add one-half cup of onion and cook in two-thirds cup of water. Add one-half cup of water and cook in two-thirds cup of water.

gravel over trucks on the crossing just east of the station to some extent. This obstruction was promptly removed by the men between Waterville station and so-called Jericho siding, a distance of a little over three miles, there is about four feet of water over the track, which will prevent train operation until the river subsides. In addition there is a washout at East Linfield a few feet long and two more washouts between Torrington and Windsor. The Naugatuck river is very high on the high-water range and prevents main line operation but trains are able to operate through the siding without delay. On this line some of the wires are gone, evidently caused by poles washed away, and train service has been seriously interfered with. The first train northbound this morning was made between two washouts and was on this amount quite late today.
