"Don't wait till she's dead to send her flowers. Don't take boarders, male or female. "Don't snear at her dog if she has one.

"Don't think she's a dumbbell. Treat her human. "Don't forget she works as hard as you do-and gets "Don't love her less or yourself more."

These may be superficial, but they are rules none the less and those who observe them may find them beneficial. Perhaps they are as good as any I might give.
The one simple rule that is sufficient not only for love her less to do as you would be done by.
It is justice and not charity that most people want. It is to be treated justly and honestly that especially every woman wants.

We cannot do this unless we accustom ourselves to take another's point of view and put ourselves in another's place.
The great enemy of love is egotism; thinking too much of ourselves and not enough of others.

rushed turtles needlessly killed by passing autoists. Many are quickly occur to you in your own the cases where the driver deliberately turns from his course in order to run over a turtle. A few days ago a driver of a heavy truck drove purposely to the side of the road to crush a large snapping turtle. The ordinary driver will watch the road at least to avoid running over stones on our cement roads and as everyone knows the turtle moves slowly and in almost all the inefficiency, and all the careall cases it is possible to allow a turtle to cross the road in safety. The turtle is a valuable asset to our farms. It destroys bugs and insects which are a pest to many crops. Let us call the attention of the public to this needless destruction of life and take steps to prevent it.
