And the memories that they bring
Are here between two covers pressed;
Unprofaned they, and thrice blest
That never any mortal thing
May damp the brightness of their dress."*

ARTHUR N. POTTER

Dedication

TO

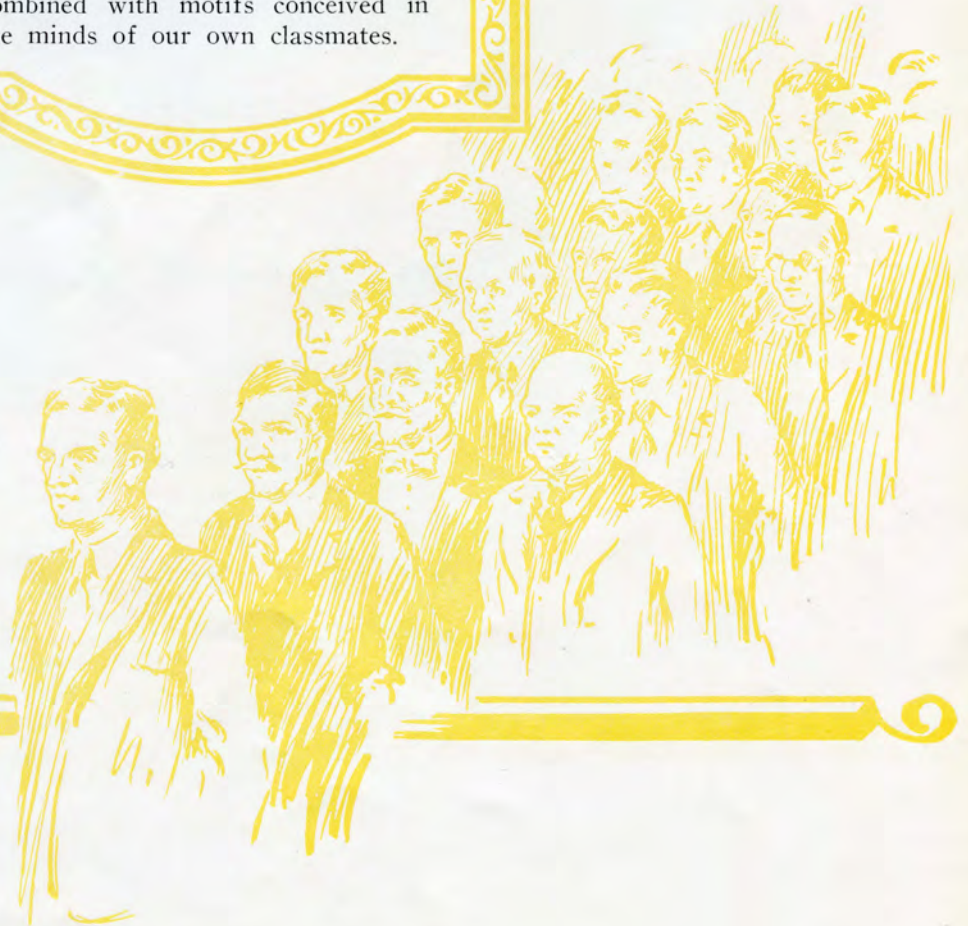

Mr. Arthur N. Potter

Who has contrbiuted so largely to the advancement of our school and to the perservation of its ideals.

Foreword

Our life in Manchester High School has reached its terminus, but the memories of that life, and of those four short years which have proved so beneficial and helpful to all of us, will not perish. Our yearbook is dedicated to the purpose of striving to perpetuate those memories and of leaving behind us a tangible record of our accomplishments as students.

Because it seems most nearly to typify the spirit of youthful progress and endeavor in the school of learning and the school of life, we have selected for our book the Alumnus theme combined with motifs conceived in the minds of our own classmates.

MY OWN TOWN

(To Manchester)

My town is an old town,
 Its roots are in the days
 When the silent footed Indian
 Went up and down its ways.

My town is a big town
 From o'er the sea and land
 Its sons and daughters gathered,
 Have swelled its growing band.

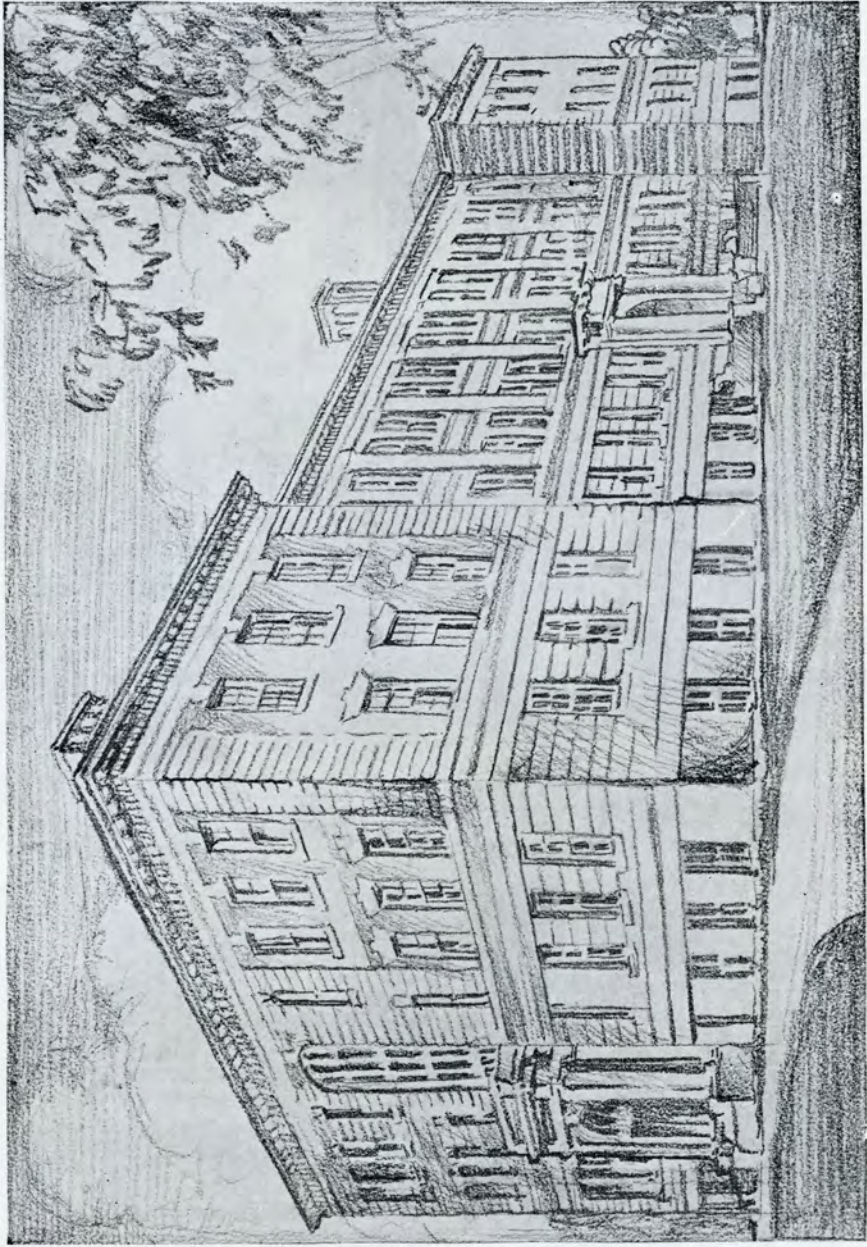

My town is a fair town,
 Its flowery fields surprise
 The trees o'ershadowing all its streets
 Where cheerful houses rise.

My town is a busy town,
 The song of trade rings out,
 Where swift machine and rattling loom
 And wheel and lever shout.

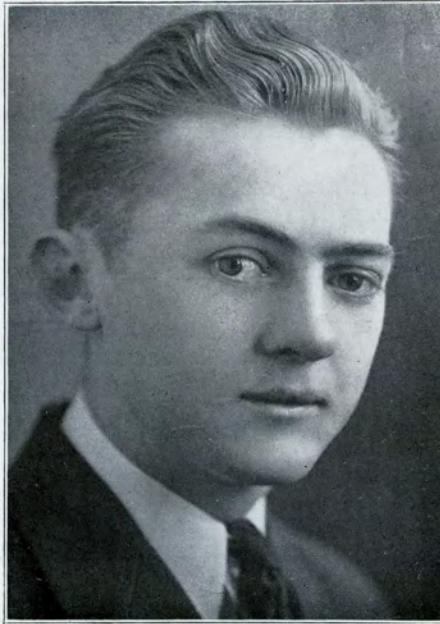

My town is a loved town,
 Where I was born and bred,
 Where every little corner
 Tells stories in my head.

My town is a happy town,
 I think I'll ne'er forsake it,
 For everything that's in it,
 Is what its own folks make it.

THE CLASS OF 1931

Unheeding spins the wheel of years;
The changing faces come and go;
But we have lived within the dawn,
And felt the freshness children know.

What if the golden glory fades,
The long hours end and one day's sun
Sets slowly on the passing scene
Of work and play and duty done?

The rolling years must multiply—
No hand so strong to stop or stay—
And we are numbered with the souls
Of whom is said, "They passed this way."

Old time must fade the tapestry
That hangs aloft in memory's hall
And dim the faces of these friends,
These brothers, sisters, comrades all.

Aye, captains of a conquered world,
Or rolled with those who delve and spin,
To all the present hour is fate,
The present prize the one to win.

And yet when bright illusion ends,
When hope is done and glory o'er
Again will live the memory fair,
Of noble days that are no more.

And then we'll hail life's last reward
Of all we've heard or seen or sung,
The moving ghosts of those we knew
When still the world was very young.

CLASS SONG

One to another, comrades all,
Clasp hands and heed the ringing call,
Echoed from every well loved wall,
The class of '31.

Time puts a term to glorious years,
The end of joyful days appears,
But raise the shout and banish fears,—
The class of '31.

Before us is the open door,
To pass it means we'll meet no more,
Together cheer as ne'er before,—
The class of '31.

Long years may take our youth away,
Faces may wrinkle, heads grow gray,
We'll still cry out with voices gay,—
The class of '31.

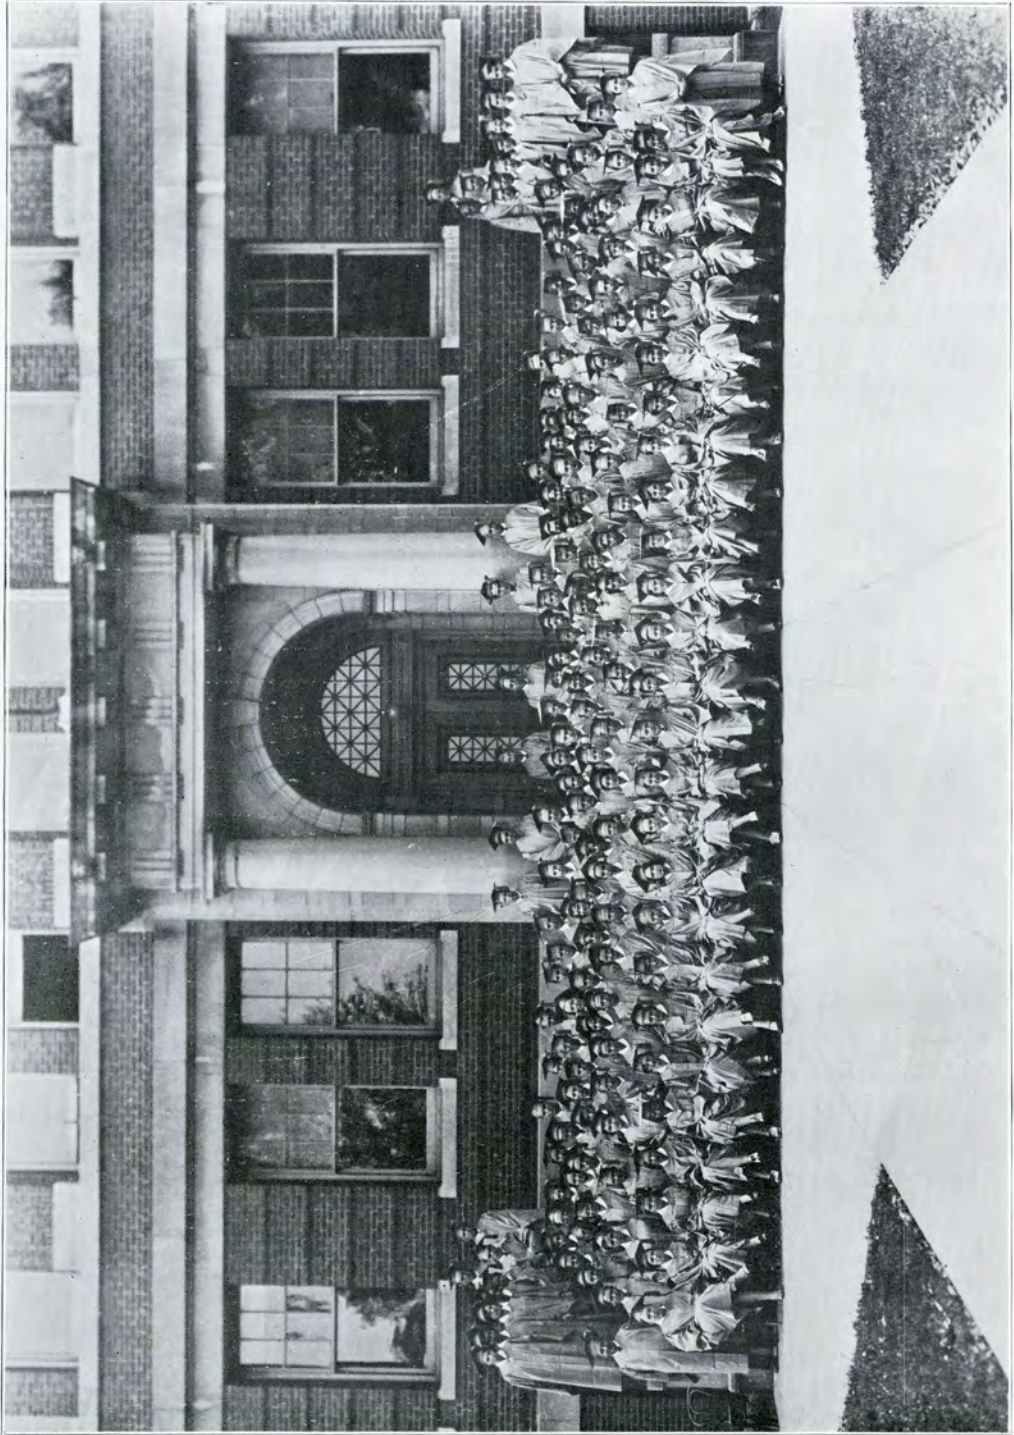

For boys and girls may come and go,
But our old school will never know
More faithful friends 'gainst every foe,—
The class of '31.

Good-bye, old friends—old school, good-bye,
The end has come of hours that fly,
'Tis parting time, we all must sigh,—
The class of '31.

But one last shout for teachers all,
For alma mater's each loved hall,
We raise our hands and give the call,—
The class of '31.

CONTRASTS

(Class Ode)

Cold, cleareyed, thoughtful, steely hard of brain,
Freed from emotion's sway, from sentiment's old pain.
We are Time's newest products, risen above the clod—
Science—our Prophet; Machinery—our God.

A man has climbed a mountain top to see
The vast and lonesome sweep of hill and plain
He broods on God and God's eternity
And seeks an answer in the solitude
Nor even hears the sound of the machines.

Over the reeling roads our chariots roll;
We come from towns, a town's our only goal.
Exulting in the strength of flaming gas,
Like meteors through startled air we pass.

Two lovers wander in the silent lane
They hear the low-voiced rustling of the trees
And feel the tender pain of moon-thrown shadows
The while they whisper words as old as time,
And yet as freshly new as springing flowers.

Our range the street when blackening night comes down
The glaring, glittering pathway of the town,
Where towering walls are battlements that bind
And narrow all the world to our great mind.

The moon track draws its silver trembling trail
Across the rolling waters of the sea.
And all the pin point sparks of heaven's pale
Wink in the lovely half light at a man
Who walks alone, not lonely on the strand.

THE VALUE OF A HIGH SCHOOL PAPER

The High School is more than a theatre of education where "each actor daily cons his little part". It is a living organism of which each student becomes a functioning part for four momentous years—four years in which the mold of his character and his intellectual fiber is set, in which some of the potentially great associations of his life are nurtured, and in which he is given an opportunity for developing those qualities of magnanimity and liberalism which are as ageless and indestructible as time. Indispensable in this work of building up the men and women of to-morrow are the school institutions—the clubs, the athletics, the societies. Certainly not least important among school institutions, but too often apt to be underestimated, is the high school paper.

The school paper holds a definite position in the composition and functioning of the school. It is primarily an observer, reflector, and interpreter of school life. Events and happenings of current interest are recorded in its pages. Trends and tendencies in the sundry branches of education and their relation to the students are therein depicted. The paper serves as a mirror in which are reflected the images not only of doings within the school, but also of those outside: the progress of the alumni, the affairs of schools neighboring and distant, and pertinent community activities. It expounds and analyses for the outsider the complex and many sided existence that is going on year after year in these institutions of learning throughout the country that are called high schools.

The high school paper is an organ through which the students may state their individual opinions and prejudices. In this way it teaches one of the fundamental precepts of life—self-expression. If there is anything about the school constitution or management the propriety or the efficiency of which the student questions, he has a medium through which he may express his protest or his indignation. Boys and girls learn how to study problems of gravity, and, what is even more important, how to marshal their thoughts and arrange them in a neat, constructive, and effective editorial.

Moreover, the school paper teaches the student how to create ideas and incidents and weave them into a story, a play, or a poem. Having done this, the paper offers them the wherewithal by which the modest products of their imagination may actually be published within the covers of a magazine. Many merely sip of the cup in which lies the liquid of creative writing; but some there are who quaff heartily of the beverage and go on into life to become a second Shakespeare or Dickens, successfully emulating the achievements of their inspirers.

The high school paper is further beneficial in that it exerts a strong unifying and solidifying influence. It establishes a common link in the relations among the readers. It offers food for thought, so to speak. Perhaps a student has written too scathing a criticism of one of the school's deficiencies; perhaps there is an interesting news item; or perhaps the jokes are above average. Whatever the motive, there is certain to be conversation and debate, and hand in hand with this interplay of discussions, groups of students united by a common influence.

One might consider the high school as an immense stage and the school paper as the silver screen on which are recorded the victories and the defeats, the joys and the sorrows of each succeeding class. And therein lies the basic difference between this and the other school institutions. The Dramatic Club may give plays, but what remains after its productions as testimony save a crushed program, perhaps relegated to an obscure corner of a frayed scrapbook? The Debating Club may deliver debates sparkling with logic and eloquence, but who remembers the mellifluous words that have been uttered? The school paper, on the other hand, remains indefinitely as a lasting, tangible memorial on which are inscribed all the memories and the reflections that one holds dear long after one has left his alma mater and is trudging over the broad highway that is called life.

Austin Johnson '31

PREPAREDNESS

One of the greatest necessities in life is preparedness. Through four years—long years, it has seemed at times—we have been working toward this end. Webster calls it the state of being ready, equipped, made.

“Ready”. Ready for what? Ready for life. During our high school career, we have been more or less shielded from the hard parts of life. Most of us have not had to earn our own living. Our greatest problems have been a difficult algebra example, a puzzling chemistry assignment, or ten lines of Virgil. Nevertheless, we are more prepared for the years after high school than were our forefathers in their day; because now schools believe in teaching more than just the three “R’s”. They are endeavoring to prepare us for the business of living. From school life we have learned to stick to a task until we have mastered it. We have learned that there is no benefit derived from copying the other fellow’s answer. More than that, we have learned the beauty of working things out together in class — cooperation, the root of all success. We count ourselves ready for the great battle and wonder of modern life, because our bit of this life experience in school has shown us the high lights—if on a smaller scale—of life outside of school. We know what to expect—we are ready for the hard knocks.

“Equipped” is the second definition. Every course in high school is designed to equip the student with the tools necessary for his own special work and for his relationship with the world in general. Books, art, music, poetry—all the fine arts are essential to a full life. One may not be at all skillful in the creation of these four, but it is more the appreciation and respect for them that counts. With the ability to understand and recognize the value of the fine arts we shall be able to live life at its fullest. The various courses in high school are arranged in order that at least one of the higher studies will be included in the curriculum of each student. Whether we go on to other schools or go immediately to work, this ability to know beauty and greatness will help us to see that our road is not all ruts. In close connection with this development of the mind, is the development of strong bodies by means of athletics. Baseball, football, basketball, swimming, track, tennis, all aid in creating invincible fighting spirit and coordination between mind and body. Even girls are eligible to sports and they, too, learn how to keep their bodies fit and strong with exercise.

Journalism and literary work of any sort is responsible for the ability to express our thoughts in written form and to let others share our worthwhile ideas. It keeps us from shutting our real selves into a shell of timidity or indifference. It brings to light the best in us and the things that whatever enobles the people of a land is bound to elevate the nation as a whole. It was in old M. H. S. that we made our friendships and loves, and whatever enobles the people of a land is bound to elevate the nation as a whole.

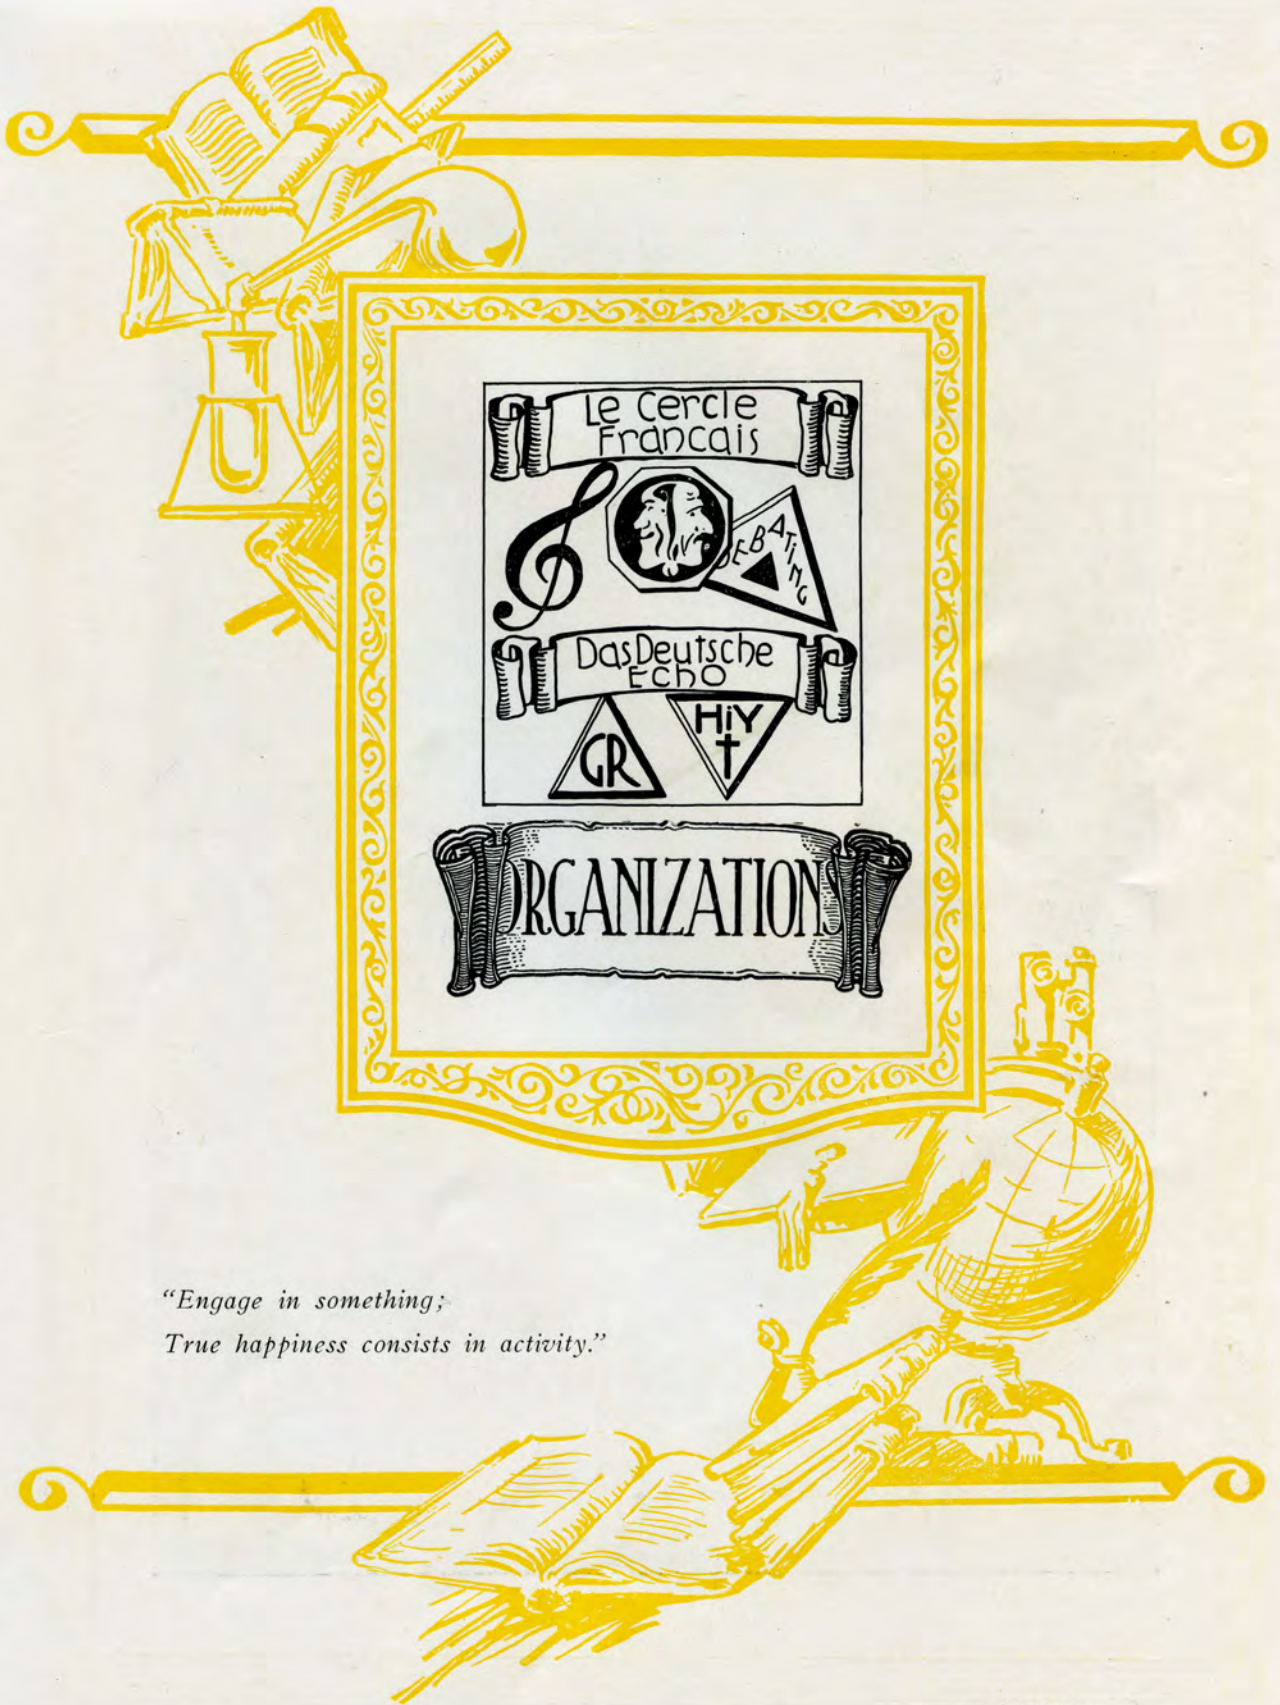

Finally, high school dramatics have had a decided influence on what we are to be. Interpretation, ability to feel, and a certain sense of power in holding the attention of an audience have added something definite and lasting to our characters. English classes and dramatic clubs have given us experiences which will bring us in closer touch with the feelings, tragedies, and joys of the people in our world.

Therefore, we are fully prepared in the second sense of the word. We are equipped mentally and physically for what is to come after high school, and we heartily thank the brains which marked out our courses for us.

The last definition is "made". Preparedness means the state of being made. "What you are to be, you are now becoming." That immortal line from a wise man's lips applies to us in this stage of life. We are shaping our lives now in the cast they will wear forever. We have been taught that "as a man thinketh, so is he", and so we have come to guide our thoughts and to govern our actions in a worthy manner. Our likes and dislikes, habits and mannerisms are almost entirely formed by now, and we are ready, equipped, and made for the future.

Regardless of the many times we have said we hated school and wished it would burn up, this last day has brought sadness, perhaps regret. For after all, it was in old M. H. S. that we made our friendships and loves, and it will always hold a warm spot in our hearts. One cannot go to school forever, of course, and all good things come to an end, but it is hard to step over the threshold of high school with the realization that we may never step back over it again. Nevertheless, we intend to make our High School proud of us and keep her colors ever symbolizing all that is fine and noble in our lives.

DEBATING CLUB

Continuing under the guidance of Mr. Arland Jenkins, the debaters on the Manchester High School Debating Team enjoyed another successful season, although we engaged in few outside debates. The club was principally occupied with its weekly meetings at which debates on various important subjects were held.

The main feature on the debating calendar was of course the Triangular Debate which this year was held on March 25, 1931. The question was: "Resolved, that chain stores are detrimental to the best interests of the American people". The Manchester Affirmative Team, composed of Louis Sullivan, John Lloyd, and Austin Johnson won a 3-0 decision over the Middletown negative at Manchester. The Manchester Negative Team, composed of George Marlowe, Betty Quimby and Charlotte Rubinow, defeated the Meriden Affirmative at Meriden. By virtue of these victories, Manchester gained its second leg on the H. Wales Lines Cup.

This year, a Central Connecticut Interscholastic Debating League was formed among Manchester, Middletown, Meriden, Bristol, East Hartford, and West Hartford high schools. Manchester and East Hartford being champions of their respective triangular leagues, debated on the chain store question March 26. The Manchester Affirmative met the East Hartford Negative at East Hartford, and the Manchester Negative met the East Hartford Affirmative at Manchester. Our teams lost 2-1 decisions to East Hartford both here and there by extremely close margins.

SOCK AND BUSKIN

During the past year, besides enjoying a very happy and successful season, Sock and Buskin, with an enlarged membership of 40, and under the expert tutelage of Miss Helen J. Estes, produced what have been considered some of the finest dramatic productions ever presented by a similar high school organization.

At the club's first meeting, it was agreed that an interscholastic dramatic league would be formed. As a result of this plan, the club attended plays presented by the respective clubs at Bristol, Meriden, and Middletown. Members from these schools also were invited to attend our presentations, and in this way Sock and Buskin helped to increase the good feelings between M. H. S. and the rival schools.

The club presented two major plays: "The Admirable Crichton" by Sir James Barrie and "Captain Applejack" by Walter Hackett, both of them requiring more ambitious productions than are usually attempted in amateur theatricals. The first was presented in November; the second, in April.

Being forced to use the High School Hall, it was necessary that some clever scenery be constructed, and a capable group of boys working under the guidance of Miss Condon proved more than equal to the task. The lighting effects in both of the two main productions were especially noteworthy.

At Christmas, a one-act play entitled "Fiat Lux" was presented as part of a holiday assembly program. Other one-act plays were presented at private socials held at the Country Club and in High School Hall.

JUST THREE PLAYS

"Song and singing borrowed from the immortals."

COMBINED GLEE CLUBS

The outstanding musical event of the school year 1930-1931 was the presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's light opera, "The Mikado", which was one of the most ambitious projects the musical societies of the school have yet attempted. It was produced in the middle of February. A group of boys constructed a special setting for the operetta which proved very effective. The principals in the cast were Hewitt Wilson, Gladys Wilson, Victor Swanson, Irene Pola, Harry Juul, Julius Radding, and Herbert McKinney. The whole production was a credit to both the glee clubs and the orchestra, and to Miss Dorward and Miss Estes who coached and directed the musical and the dramatic sequences respectively.

Due to the fact that "The Mikado" required so much preparation on behalf of the students participating, the Glee Clubs were not able to rank among the winners at the C. C. I. L. Glee Club contest, but everything considered, both clubs acquitted themselves creditably.

At the beginning of the year, the combined Glee Clubs presented a pageant in assembly entitled, "Songs of the States".

The officers of the Boys' Glee Club were: Russell Clough, president; Royal Bitgood, secretary; and John Hutt, librarian. A double quartet was formed consisting of Baranoski, Wilson, Pirie, Swanson, Campbell, Clough, Radding, and Della Fera.

The officers of the Girls' Glee Club were Ruth Tivnan, president; Clarissa Wood, secretary; and Eleanor Nickerson, librarian.

ORCHESTRA

The Manchester High School Orchestra has done some noticeably fine work this year. With the able assistance and direction of Miss Dorward, this organization has progressed rapidly.

In the contest held at the New England States Exposition at Springfield, our orchestra ranked third.

A new experience for the orchestra was playing the score of Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, "The Mikado" from real manuscript music. That they succeeded as well as they did is a distinct credit both to them and to Miss Dorward. The orchestra assisted at the following events: Sock and Buskin's presentation of "The Admirable Crichton" in November; the C. I. L. Triangular Debates in March; the Evening School Graduation in April; and Sock and Buskin's production of "Captain Applejack" in April.

Ruth Tivnan has been concertmaster for this year, and Norman Campbell has acted as assistant-concert master.

The orchestra loses the following members by graduation: Norman Campbell, Russell Clough, Pauline Emonds, Elizabeth Lithwinski, Albert Platt, Emerson Sanderson, and Ruth Tivnan.

LEADERS' CLASS

Leaders' Class, under the direction of Miss A. Virginia Howard, has had a very successful year. The twenty-six girls who constitute Leaders' Class are admitted by tests. These consist of tests in advanced apparatus work, and written tests in game rules, administration, and sportsmanship.

This class is for two purposes. First, it gives the members advance work in apparatus and games. Second, it teaches them how to coach and manage. It meets only once a week, a situation which does not allow much time for all of its activities.

During the year, the class has added a few different events to its regular routine. The girls put on a dance, a thing that had never been done before. The gym room was decorated as a ship for this dance. At the end of the term, the girls put on an outdoor track meet. The class also established a few new rules regarding membership, and appointed a social committee with Ida Anderson as chairman, and Hilman Dahlman as treasurer.

GIRL RESERVES

Under skillful supervision, the Girl Reserves have made decided progress this year. More new members have joined, more activities have been planned, and a greater interest has been shown by all the members.

The new members were given a Valentine Party at Teachers' Hall, at which Miss McCracken, of the Hartford "Y", and Miss Mehl, of Wethersfield, were the guests of honor.

The following were chosen as officers for the year: President, Pauline Emonds; Vice-President, Louise Janssen; Secretary, Betty Strong; Treasurer, Bernice Harrison; Advisers, Miss Richmond, Miss Casey, Miss Davis, Miss Howard.

The governing head of the Girl Reserves is the Inter-Club Council which plans general activities for all the county Girl Reserves. At the second meeting of this club, which meets every two weeks at the Hartford "Y", Elizabeth Lithwinski, the local representative, was elected vice-president.

This club with the assistance of Miss McCracken planned the banquet which was held April 25. A picnic is being planned to take place May 16 at Mrs. Wickham's estate opposite Laurel Park, to which the friends of the Girl Reserves are also planning to go. The week-end of May is holding much in store for all the girls who are intending to go to Camp Aya-Po for three enjoyable days.

The club is indeed steadily growing larger, and this fact will mean much to the future members who are interested in "Y" work.

The Manchester Hi-Y Club has just completed its tenth successful year. Under the helpful guidance of its leader and adviser, Mr. Chester Robinson, the meetings were held every second and fourth week in the Robbins Room of the Center Congregational Church. The meetings are conducted in a very orderly manner. At each meeting there is either an outside speaker or a discussion led by one of the members.

The purpose of the Hi-Y Club is to "create, maintain, and extend throughout the high school and the community high standards of Christian character."

The club is non-sectarian and the membership is limited to the three upper classes of the high school. The biggest aim of the club is to promote the qualities of good leadership and to bring about among the members themselves the kind of thinking and acting that is honest and straightforward. In carrying out this aim, the Hi-Y Club brings to each member a sense of fair play, of cooperation, and of Christian thinking that is invaluable.

Middle Row: Kennedy, Cubberly, McKenna, Simon, Egan, Treat, Brannick.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is a body composed of the chairmen of the various home rooms of the three upper classes and the presidents of all the classes. This group meets at irregular periods with Principal Quimby and discusses matters relating to the student body. Among the more important duties of the Student Council are the awarding of all athletic letters and the appointment of all assistant managers and managers.

Through the Student Council, the student body is given an opportunity to take an actual representative part in the management and execution of many of the school affairs.

REVIEW OF THE SEASON

The football team did not have a successful year as far as games won and lost are concerned, but, considering the outlook at the beginning of the season, the team lined up to the expectations of Coach Kelley. Every game was close and hard fought, especially the Bristol, Meriden, and Willimantic games.

This year's team was composed mostly of members from the three lower classes, and the outlook for the 1931 season is therefore unusually bright. Of the first squad, there are only four, Davis, Potterton, Swanson, and Turkington, who will be lost by graduation.

The basketball team enjoyed the most successful season in the school's history winning 17 out of 20 games played. Its greatest accomplishments were in winning the C. C. I. L. Championship, and in being runners-up for the state title at Yale.

Capt. Turkington, Tierney, and Hedlund, of the first five, will be lost through graduation, but Coach Clarke will have O'Leary, Squatrito, Lerch, Kerr, and Smith around which to build next year's team. Other players who did remarkably well in substitute roles this year, and who will also be lost through graduation, are Fraser, McCormick, McHale, and Werner.

It is highly probable that next year's team will have a world of success, but if it equals the record made by the 1930-1931 team, the school will have something of which to be proud.

STARTING THE SEASON

This year's baseball team has started off very well by winning its first three league games over Middletown, West Hartford, and Meriden, tying Rockville, and breaking even with Hartford High. According to the present indications, our team should be at the top when the curtain is rung down at the end of the season. The pitching material has not come through as expected, and it is up to Fraser and McConkey to carry the burden.

The team is fortunate in having a veteran infield, and Coach Kelley has found four reliable outfielders from which to choose. Hedlund is filling in the catching assignment in big league fashion, and has also attained the reputation of being the most dangerous hitter on the squad.

CHAMPIONSHIP SUMMARY

Manchester won second place in the State Interscholastic Indoor Track Meet at New Haven.

Manchester captured second place in the State Interscholastic Outdoor Track Meet at New Haven.

REVIEW OF THE SEASON

Several of last year's track veterans, entered in the State Indoor Meet in March, caused somewhat of a sensation by placing Manchester High second for team honors and thus starting Manchester off at its right stride in preparation of another successful track season. A few weeks later, the Red and White opened its regular schedule by showing its superiority over Hartford and Meriden in two duel meets. The team next journeyed down to New Haven to compete in the State Outdoor Meet, and proved that it was worthy of the second place it had captured in the Indoor Meet. Manchester placed second, thus showing its heels to all Class B and even class A teams with the exception of Hillhouse, who nosed out the local team 42-32. Frank Wittman, Junior sprinter, captured the individual scoring honors of the meet by taking first in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Capt. Ray Jewell also captured a first in the broad jump. Other Manchester athletes to garner points were O'Leary, Squatrito, Olson, Joslin, and Zapadka.

Bristol, Manchester's arch rival in all sports, finished far in the rear and according to the present outlook, Manchester appears to be the favorite to capture the C. C. I. L. pennant, and thus make it a fitting climax to the splendid achievements of the past year.

TENNIS

The tennis team this year has been forced to cancel half of its engagements because of the inability of some of the other schools to build up any teams. Nevertheless, schools of higher rating have been substituted in their places. Thus far, the team has not been very successful due to lack of practice and organization. James Britton, a sophomore, has so far given the best exhibitions; the others may find their true form as the season progresses. The team is not entirely selected, but the following have played quite regularly: Howard ("Gob") Turkington, "Bill" Turkington, Anthony Urbanetti, Eugene Rossi, James Metcalf, Walter Klein, and "Bob" Sturgeon.

HOCKEY

Hockey, a newly organized sport in the high school, went through a successful season, beating Middletown and other schools who have teams which are more fully developed. The sport was started by some enterprising students interested in the game, and with the cooperation of Mr. Perry as coach, played several games at the Center Springs Park. This year was the first in which letters were awarded in this sport, and these only to seniors who shared the largest part of the burden in constructing a team. The senior members are Bantly, Daigle, Chambers, Brown, and Klein.

ATHLETIC HONOR ROLL

ARTHUR DAVIS—"Art" was co-captain of the football team and a valuable point-getter on the swimming team.

ROY FRASER—"Chick" has been the pitching mainstay of the baseball team for the last two years. He was also on the basketball squad last winter.

JOHN HEDLUND—"Johnny" played on the baseball team for three seasons and was our best defensive man on this year's basketball team.

RAYMOND JEWELL—"Red" is our captain of track and is a sure point-getter in both the high and broad jump.

RICHARD JOSLIN—"Dick" is a two sport man, being on the swimming team (captain in his Junior year) and on the track squad.

CLIFFORD MAGNUSON—"Maggie" was a letter man in football in 1929 and played on the baseball team for the first three seasons.

DAVID McCONKEY—"Davie" is captain of the baseball team, and a very good one at that. His ability to be used either as a pitcher or on third base makes him the team's most valuable player.

CHRISTOPHER McHALE—"Huck" was represented on both the tennis and basketball teams. Although he was not one of the first five in basketball, his work in the Bristol games was outstanding.

DOUGLAS ROBERTSON—"Doug" since his return to school this year, has made his letter in swimming and track.

RALPH SWANSON—"Swanie" was regular tackle on this year's football team, and is also on the track squad, being entered in the mile event.

JOHN TIERNEY—"Zeke" was a regular in baseball for three years, and in basketball for two.

HOWARD TURKINGTON—"Howie" has been very outstanding in sports. He was captain of the championship basketball team and Number one man in tennis. His basketball ability has made him "famous" throughout the state.

EDWARD WERNER—"Ed" has received his letter in three different sports; tennis, basketball, and baseball. Although he did not have the good fortune of being on the regular or first team, he was a very valuable asset to the squads.

MEMORIES OF WASHINGTON

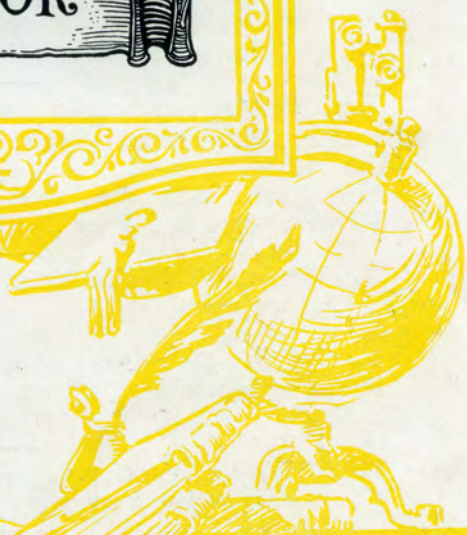

FIND THE KING

HERE WE ARE IN WASHINGTON

*"Mirth, admit me of thy crew,
To live with her, and live with thee,
In unprov'd pleasures free."*

We will begin this program with the W. C. T. U. theme song: "The camels are coming."

GRADUATION is a sort of spring cleaning in which the school gets rid of all the surplus seniors.

Don't sleep in class. What do you think they provided study halls for?

Our teams haven't been making much money. What they need is more elastic supporters.

The net profits of the tennis racket are not all they should be.

Don't send my son to prison. Send him to Yale.

Prof: Do you think you're teacher of this class?

Guilty: No.

Prof: Then don't act like a conceited ass.

Some sprinters seem to be running away from their own feet. We don't blame them.

Miss Estes: Dotchin, give a definitive sentence using the word "brooch".

Dotchin: Girls wear brooches.

Miss Estes: But that isn't definitive. Girls wear so many things.

One: Why are some teachers baldheaded?

Two: Because no vegetation grows above the timber line.

Windows were made to be seen through;

But God made the transoms for C. P. Q.

Frosh Femme (at dance): Isn't this floor wonderful?

Senior: Why ask me? You're nearer to it than I am.

Miss Estes: What did Bacon write?

Dillon: "Ham and Eggs".

Mr. Perry: We didn't take in as much money as I expected, but I didn't expect that we would.

Ma: What's the matter? Are you sick?

Pa (who is working Junior's way through college): No. Just a slight touch of the son.

Pro: He's a straightforward young man.

Con: Yes, he has a monorail mind.

Miss Estes: Give the events of the morning in "L'Allegro".

Harrington: There was no mourning in "L'Allegro"; it was the record of a day in a happy man's life.

"To things of sale a seller's praise belongs."

THRIFT---

Nature's Own Scheme

IT is a part of Nature's plan for her creatures to save. Witness the dog bury the bone in order that he may not have to go hungry on the morrow! Watch the squirrel hide away acorns for the winter! Notice how the bees work industriously, storing away honey!

NATURE instilled the habit of thrift into these lesser creatures, we call it instinct.

BUT Nature endowed us with intelligence, hoping we would realize the need for thrift instead of being driven to it by instinct.

ARE you choosing to do the thing Nature requires the lower creatures to do? If not, you should begin saving now!

For Over 33 Years= Manchester's Leading Department Store

FOR over 33 years, The J. W. Hale Company has been known to the people of Manchester as their leading department store. Way back in the old day when Mr. Justus W. Hale founded Manchester's first dry goods store, he endeavored to give the people of Manchester the utmost in satisfaction and quality, in fact, "a square deal to all" was his motto, which Hale's are endeavoring to carry out daily.

Mr. Hale first began business in a small, one-story building on Charter Oak Street known as Hale and Day. There the people of Manchester gathered once or twice a week to buy their week's grocery and dry goods needs and to talk about the big events of the week. An average of 900 customers visited the store weekly in those days.

In over 33 years, The J. W. Hale Company has grown to be the largest and leading department store in town. From a one room store it has grown so that it now occupies three floors and covers 30,000 square feet of floor space. Twenty-nine departments covering apparel, home needs and food stuffs. 14,000 customers purchase in the store weekly.

So The J. W. Hale Company has grown to be a leading institute in Manchester and owes its growth to the splendid response which the people of Manchester have given it.

YOUR CAREER

The Hartford Hospital Training School for Nurses offers you the opportunity of a professional career. Graduation from an accredited high school is necessary. Preference given students who have included English, Mathematics, Science, Chemistry, History, Latin and Home Economics in their curriculums. A commercial course is not advised to those intending to enter a school of nursing.

In addition to many educational advantages, the school offers such recreation as professional Glee Club and Dramatic instruction, Basket Ball, Swimming, and Scouting. The Nurses' Residence is home-like and attractive. Students have an eight-hour day with one afternoon off each week and five hours off on Sunday.

The school is now in its fifty-fourth year and has graduated twelve hundred and sixty nurses. The present enrollment is two hundred and twenty-one students.

CLASSES ARE ADMITTED IN SEPTEMBER AND IN FEBRUARY.

GOOD LUGGAGE

Vacation days are luggage days. Yet so many, many vacations are spoiled each year just because of bothersome luggage. Yes, it's an old, old story but nevertheless a true one. The thoughtful vacationist heeds it and makes certain his luggage is O. K. Why not check yours up today. If it isn't quite up to par or intimates in the slightest way that it is the old bothersome kind we suggest you visit Keith's luggage department before setting out on bon voyage. Here you will find luggage for every need at prices that satisfy.
