FOREWORD

The brief accounts of class-mates and school-time activities recorded in this year-book will be a never-ending source of happy thoughts and delightful reminiscences. In years to come when we look back from the vantage point of maturity, we hope that this, the year-book of 1935A and 1935B, will serve as a fitting memorial of the many important events that we are celebrating this year.

ALMA MATER

To our Alma Mater our praises we bring,
 For the four years of guidance we gratefully sing,
 To the teachers who sustained us in hopes and in fears,
 Our thanks we do give for their help through these years;
 In memory, Manchester High School ever shall stay
 When the time comes to part and we go far away,
 Alma Mater, accept our praise.

To our Alma Mater, our vows we do sing,
 May the name be untarnished, may its honor cling
 E'er to the high standards that always we bore,
 And now hope to see upheld as of yore.
 We stand on the threshold of life that is new;
 The books of our high school mastered and through,
 Alma Mater live on!

"The learning and knowledge that we have is at the most but little compared with that of which we are ignorant."

CLASS SONG

1935A

To Alma Mater now we sing
Courage and strength she'll bring
To face life's pathway filled with strife
To give the best in our life.
Joyfully we answer the stirring call
Knowledge will guide us all
Our friendships true will ever be
Dear as our thoughts of thee.

Our days with thee are at an end;
Happy years did we spend.
To friends we leave our work and jest
Always to aim for the best.
Thy inspiration will lead us on
To victories never before won.
We sing farewell, Manchester High,
Holding our standard high.

CONNECTICUT HEROES

CONNECTICUT'S CHARTER OAK

In a corner of New England
Where the laurel blooms in glory
Is the state we love most dearly,
Famed in deed and famed in story.

This fine state did own a charter
Granted by an English sovereign;
Now that country 'cross the ocean
Wished that land-grant to regain.

Edmund Andros from old England
Sailed across the choppy seas;
He had come to get the charter
By force of arms or urgent pleas.

But the people of this province
Loved their freedom far too well;
Even when Sir Andros threatened,
Their fierce spirit he could not quell.

So they came to this decision,
For the benefit of all,
To have a most important conference
In the Hartford City Hall.

Near that hall there stood a tree
Which groaned and shook in the winter breeze,
But it was a sturdy oak
Hollow though its trunk had grown.

While the meeting was in progress
Sir Edmund asked the charter back;
There the candles flickered—sputtered—
And the room was dark and black.

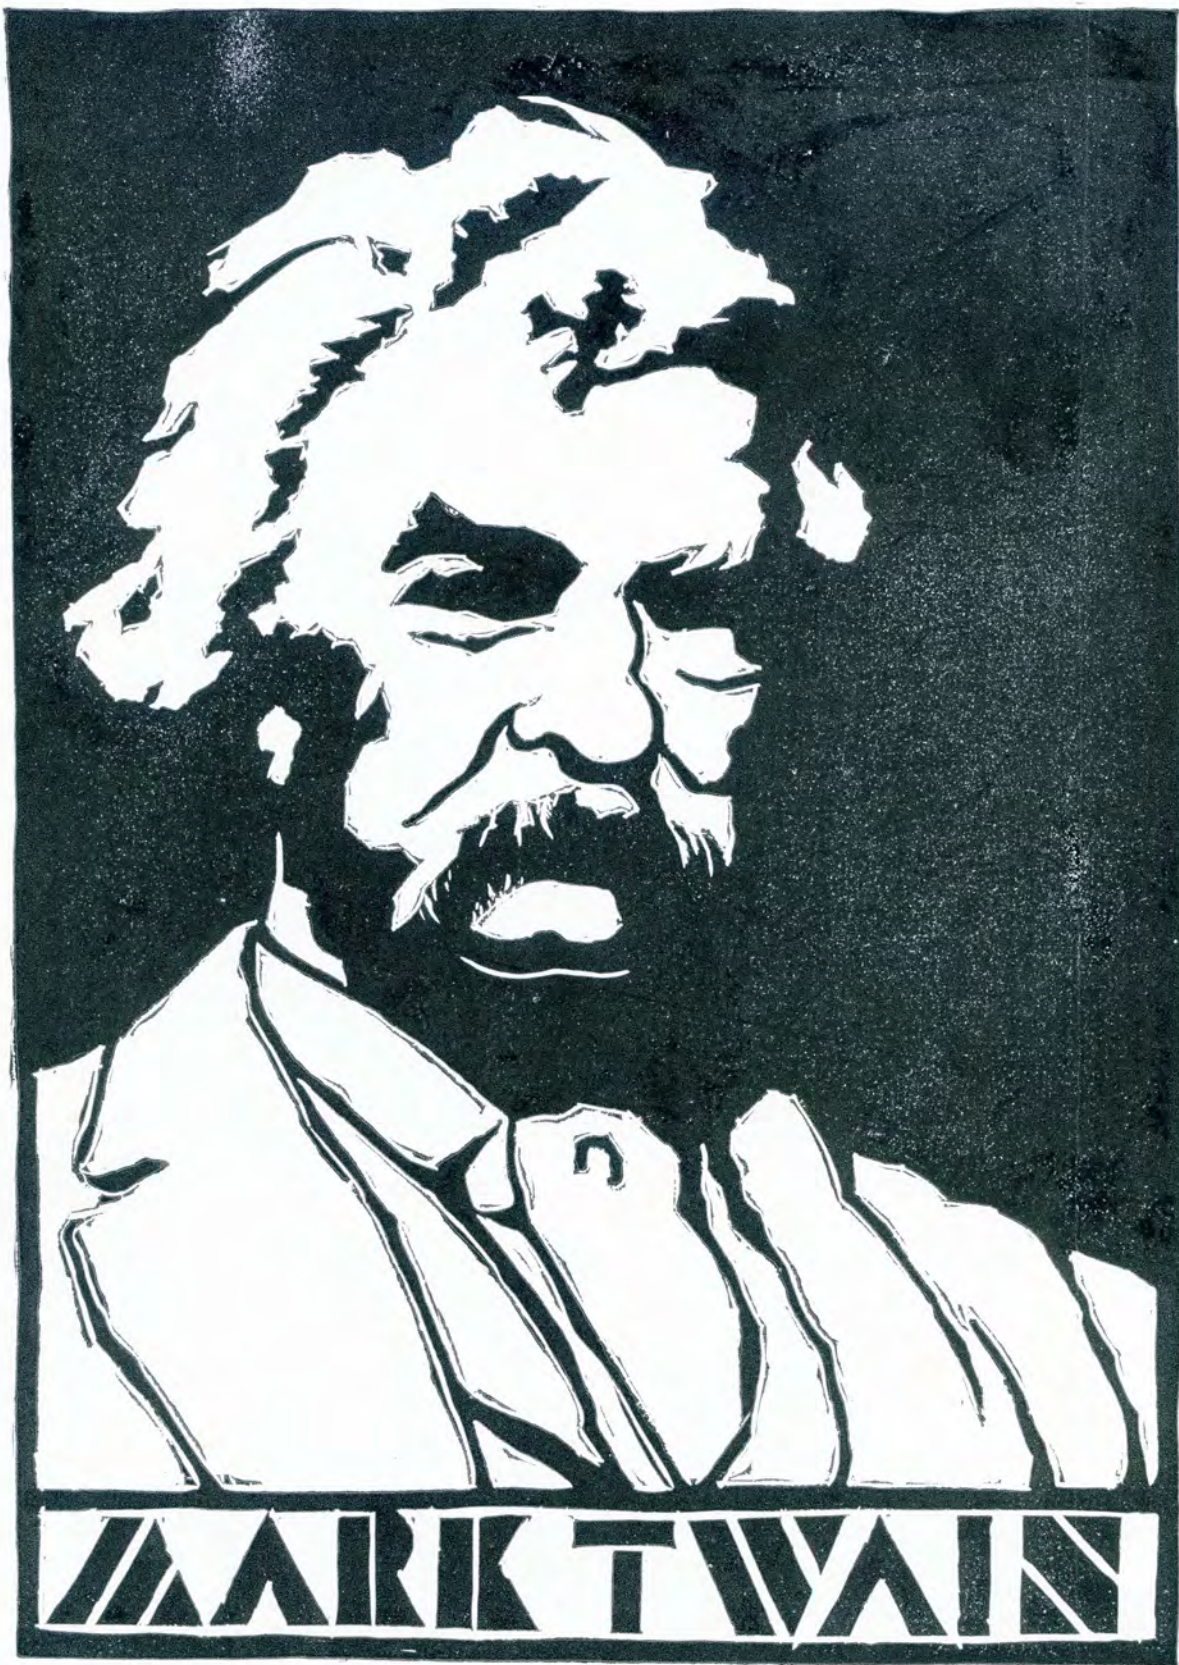

When the hall once more was brightened
The famous charter was not there.
The men all cried, "It has been stolen!"
They couldn't find it anywhere.

But what happened I shall tell you:
A young man named Wadsworth came,
And he took that precious charter,
Hid it in that tree of fame.

Thus the freedom of our people
Saved was by that wily stroke,
And the paper safe was hidden
In Connecticut's Charter Oak.

JOKES AND SAYINGS BY MARK TWAIN

"If you don't like New England weather—wait a while."

"Get your facts first, and then you can distort them as much as you please."

"You would never believe how many places you can stick a needle into yourself until you go into the embroidery line and devote yourself to art."

An author wrote to Mr. Clemens on the diet for authors. He asked if Mr. Clemens thought fish was good brain food. Mr. Clemens answered that it supplied phosphorus, but it did have further quality he thought the author needed a couple of whales, from the looks of his letter.

When Mark asked a neighbor if he might borrow a book, the neighbor replied that he might if he used it in the neighbor's library. When the same neighbor asked Mark if he might borrow Mark's lawn mower, Mark replied, "Yes, if you will use it here!"

Clemens tells of himself and Bret Harte writing a play.

"Well, Bret came down to Hartford and we talked it over and then Bret wrote it while I played billiards, but of course I had to go over it to get the dialect right. Bret never did know anything about dialect."

When his fortunes were at the lowest ebb, and a report went through the United States saying that Mark Twain was dead, he received a dispatch from a newspaper asking for details. The humorist immediately sent a message that made all the world laugh:

"The report of my death is greatly exaggerated."

Clemens said to Matthews, who wrote articles for a paper:

"You are the very wrong-headedest person in America, and you are judicious. And of the article, 'I read it to the cat—well, I never saw a cat carry on so before.'"

"You looked yesterday like the victim of a flood and today you're a refugee from the erupting Vesuvius."

Mrs. Stowe was leaving for Florida one morning and Clemens ran over early to say good-by. On his return Mrs. Clemens regarded him:

"Why, Youth," she said, "you haven't on any collar and tie."

He said nothing but went to his room, did up these items in a neat package and sent it over by a servant with a line:

"Herewith receive a call from the rest of me."

Twain made a remark about the cook, and the butler remarked after they had had an argument about who did the most for the family:

“You are both far too clever to do much work.”

This was an unexpected shock for cook and butler.

Mark Twain and William D. Howells were arguing about which one was the more famous. Howell insisted it was Twain,

“Every person, young and old, knows you.”

To prove this statement they entered a phonograph store and asked for Mark Twain’s picture. The shop keeper looked surprised for a moment and then asked,

“In what does she play?”

A doctor friend of Mark’s gave him some tablets for a cold and as Mark didn’t visit his friends very often, the doctor sent a bill to him. Mark came the next day and acted very angry and disturbed. But when his friend explained it was only a means of making Mark visit him, Mark laughed and faithfully promised to come to visit more often.

After Mark had finished his speech at a dinner, a lawyer arose, shoved his hands deep into his pockets, as was his habit, and inquired:

“Doesn’t it strike the company as a little unusual that a professional humorist should be so funny?”

Twain came back with the drawling inquiry:

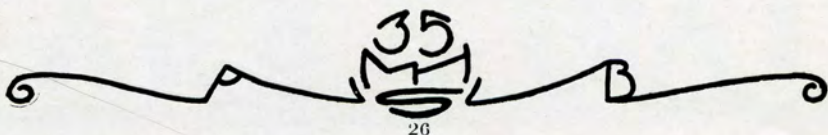

“Doesn’t it strike this company as a little unusual that a lawyer should have his hands in his own pockets?”

“Tonight Joan of Arc was burned to the stake.” (meaning that he had finished the book.)

Mark Twain once said that pansies were violets with a college education. “Gardening with Brains Finch.”

General Grant said, “Neither of us originated the idea of Sherman’s march to the sea. The enemy did it.”

“Soap and education aren’t as sudden as a massacre, but they are more deadiy in the long run.”

CLASS SONG

With the "Blue and Gold" before us
 And our souls and hearts alive
 As we journey onward and upward
 And willing to strive
 For the best and finest ahead
 That we can obtain
 We hope that we, as classmates,
 Success will attain.

Our fine teachers who have helped us
 With our studies and our sports
 We extend to them our gratitude;
 Their praises exhort.
 Our parents and our friends, who
 Have helped us, as well,
 As we leave them all today
 We bid them farewell.

We have reached the end we aimed for
 And now the time is here.
 When we start on life's long journey
 So full of hope and cheer,
 We will brave it all with courage
 And keep working upward still,
 Till we reach the highest summit
 Of life's steepest hill.

GIRL RESERVES

The Girl Reserves this year enrolled ninety-three members. Miss Casey and Miss Kellogg were the Faculty leaders.

The Club was very active. At Christmas, it held a Christmas party for the poor children of the town. A food sale and the selling of candy at school was held to defray Club expenses.

Several interesting speakers entertained Club members during the year, among them, Miss Ruth Behrend who spoke on the "Bargain Hound;" Miss Jeanne Low spoke of her visit to France this past summer; Miss Earhart, a representative of the Bond Bread Company; and Miss Edith Holmgren, Manchester Public Health Nurse, also gave an interesting talk on nursing. A Vocational Conference was held in Manchester on April first.

HI-Y CLUB

Upon completion of its fourteenth successful year, the M. H. S. Hi-Y Club can look back upon its record with pride. Under the guidance of its advisers Mr. A. Johngren and Mr. N. Gatchell, the meetings were held every second and fourth Monday of each month in the Center Congregational Church.

The purpose of the Hi-Y is to "create, maintain, and extend throughout the high school and community high standards of Christian character."

The club is non-sectarian and the membership is limited to the two upper classes of the high school. The premier aim of the club is to promote the qualities of good leadership, and to bring about among the members themselves the kind of thinking and acting that is honest and straight forward. In carrying out the aim, the Hi-Y Club brings to each member a sense of fair play, of cooperation, and of Christian thinking that is invaluable.

MANCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Harold Turkington, has had a most successful year. It played for class night, graduation, and all assemblies. Special music was rendered for the Christmas assembly, the Christmas cantata; and it assisted Sock and Buskin, the Paint and Powder Club, and the Glee Club.

Mr. Turkington organized an ensemble for use at public affairs. The Community Players have depended upon them for all their plays. They also played for The Mothers' Club. One of the pianists and four violinists assisted Miss Grace Adams in a recent recital.

Much credit is given to the untiring efforts of Mr. Turkington and to the faithfulness of the members.

The orchestra will feel the loss of the following members through graduation: Helen Viertel, Lucille Brown, Ward Krause, and William Szymanski.

"STUDENTS OF RHYTHM"

The "Students of Rhythm" was organized this year by Miss McGuire. They have played at numerous school social hours and furnished dance music during the noon hours. They have also played for the two freshmen class parties and for various other clubs.

GLEE CLUB

An old-fashioned carol "sing" was successfully presented by the Glee Clubs this year when they sang the oratorio "Child Jesus". The funds from this carol sing were given for charity work.

During the spring term, a concert was given in the High School Auditorium by the Glee Club and orchestra combined.

The most important work of the Glee Club centered around the C. C. I. L. contest, which was held in May at the Bushnell Memorial, in Hartford.

The Glee Club was conducted by G. Albert Pearson, with the two accompanists, Lucille Brown and Doris Cole.

DEBATING

First Row : Shapiro, H. Pietrowski, Mr. Hartwell, F. Pietrowski, Wilson.
 Second Row : Weber, Knapp, McPartland, Jones.

DEBATING

Triangular debate held March 23, 1935

The subject of the debate was—"Resolved: That the Federal Government should adopt the policy of equalizing educational opportunity throughout the nation by means of annual grants to the states" and even though the Negative lost to Meriden with a 3 to 0 decision, we are comforted with the thought that our opponents had to combat strong opposition.

While our Negative lost to Meriden at Meriden, the Affirmative won over Middletown at home with a 2 to 1 decision. It is needless to say that Middletown's Negative was also very good, as can be witnessed from the close decision.

Members of the affirmative team were:

- | | |
|---------------------|-----------------------|
| 1. Rose Shapiro | 3. Lewis Jones |
| 2. Helen Pietrowski | Alternate—Wesley Gryk |

While the negative team consisted of the following:

- | | |
|-----------------------|----------------------------|
| 1. Herbert Weber | 3. Robert Knapp |
| 2. Felicia Pietrowski | Alternate—Catherine Wilson |

Preliminary to the C. C. I. L. Triangular Meet, a debate was arranged between Rockville's Affirmative and our Negative, at Rockville, the decision being in our favor. Incidentally, it is interesting to note here that Rockville never before included Debating in their many school activities, this being their first venture.

Several one-act plays were produced, among them, "The Silver Lining" by Constance MacKay, and "A Weakness for Nurses". Sock and Buskin wrote and directed, with the help of Miss Page and other members of the faculty, a Christmas Pageant in which over a hundred students took part.

"Pomander Walk" by Louis Parker, an elaborate 18th century three-act comedy, was the major production of the club. The choice, setting, and finish of the play made it not only an outstanding production of the year, but also in the history of the school.

Through lack of players and experience, this year's team had a very unsuccessful season. As a result, Manchester finished last in the C. C. I. L., without a victory to its credit.

Nevertheless, much experience was gained through these defeats and it is prophesied that the prospects for the coming season will be more favorable. Only five regulars will be lost through graduation.

This year's team started its season by vanquishing both Bristol and West Hartford. It suffered its first defeat at the hands of Middletown. They lost again to Manchester Trade School and East Hartford.

Disregarding these defeats, the team, it is hoped will have a good season. Because few players will be lost through graduation a good season is forecast for next year's team.

A fighting, but luckless team played this year. It finished last in the C.C.I. League but it gained a great deal of satisfaction in defeating Bristol.

Although the team lost a large percentage of the games, they were lost by only a few points, thus showing that the team could not "click" at the crucial moment.

A good season is expected next year because of the fine performances shown by the second team in their games.

The Manchester High track team has enjoyed a fairly successful season. They took third place in the State Indoor Meet at Wesleyan. A relay squad was chosen to represent the team at the Penn. Relays. This team took second in the National Scholastic Medley relay, and won their class mile relay.

The regular season opened with a victory over Hartford and a second place at Rhode Island. Bristol handed them their first defeat in six years on the local field, and they were fourth in the State meet.

Working under the reliable supervision of Coach Wigren, and due to the fine spirit shown by all those students who have participated, the Manchester High School Cross Country Team has completed one of its most successful seasons since the sport was organized in Manchester High School in 1931.

 F. GARDNER

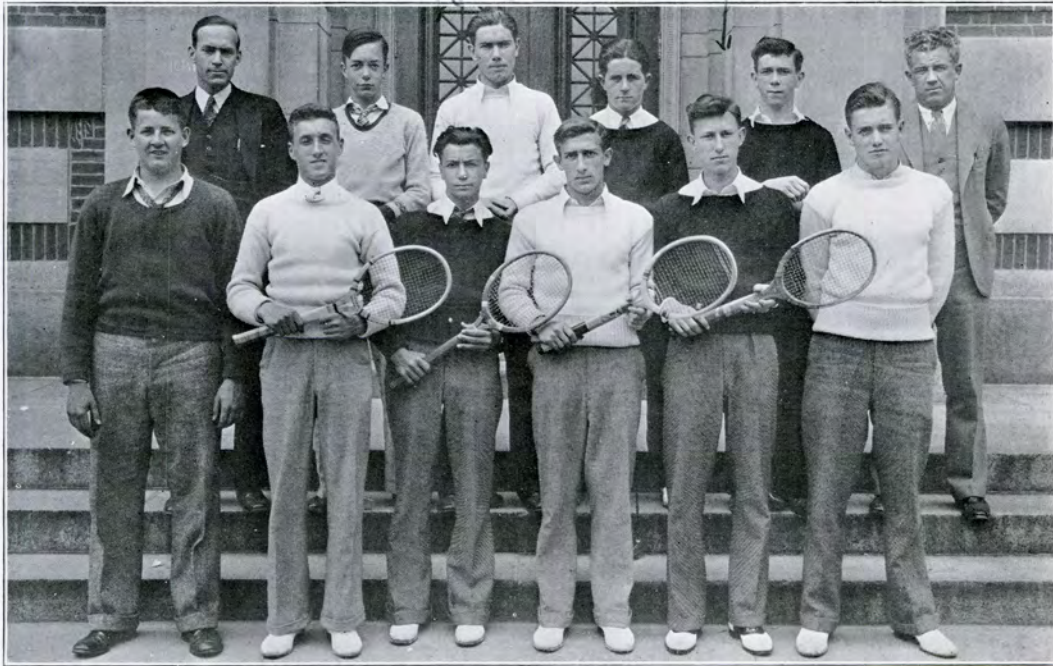

The Manchester High School Swimming Team, the best it has had for some years, closed a successful season this year. Under the guidance of Coach Johngren, the team did very well in all its competitions.

Records in the Free Style Relay, Medley Relay and 220 yard dash, were broken this year.

The team won three out of its seven dual meets; beat all competition that had a claim to the C. C. I. L.; but failed to place in the State Meet.

Next year's team is expected to do exceedingly well because most of the present members are returning for another year.

TENNIS AND GOLF

First Row: Puter, Georgetti, R. Della Fera, Urbanetti, Sinnamon, Trotter.

TENNIS

Captain—URBANETTI

Manager—TROTTER

- 1. URBANETTI
- 2. SINNAMON

- 3. DELLA FERA
- 4. GEORGETTI

Coach—MR. HARTWELL

The tennis team has won their first four starts to date. A very good season is anticipated. This team won the C.C.I.L. meet last year. These boys should give keen competition at the State Meet, due to Urbanetti's leadership.

GOLF

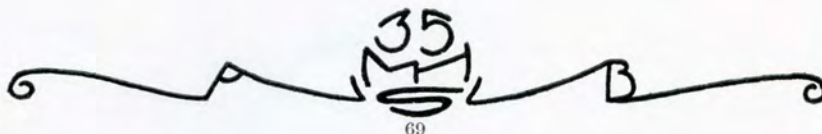

Captain—CIVILLO

- 1. D. CIVELLO
- 2. W. WEIR
- 3. T. FOSTER

- 4. F. REARDON
- 5. E. McVEIGH

Coach—MR. KELLY

The golf team has won 2 matches and lost 3 matches to date. Through the loss of "Danny" Civello the chance of retaining the C.C.I.L. title may be doubtful.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

During the past year, the girls' athletics, under the energetic and efficient leadership of Miss Blanche Feder, have cultivated a fine field of athletics for the girls.

The motto, "Athletics for All," has been developed so that there was something which would interest every girl. The excused girls had a variety of leisure time activities and chose which they wished to do. These included shuffleboard, ping-pong, deck tennis, bowling, cards, checkers, and jacks.

At the end of the hockey season, an Annual Sports Day was held at Wethersfield. A four-cornered tournament was held. The West Hartford blue team was the winner of the winners, while our Manchester white team was the winner of the losers.

The girls who reported for after-school basketball were divided according to their class and then according to whether they were a member of the blue or white team. These teams played inter-class games, from which was chosen an Honorary Varsity Blue and White team. These teams represented Manchester High School at a tournament held at West Hartford High School, where two teams from West Hartford, Wethersfield, and Bloomfield also participated. West Hartford's blue team won a hard-earned victory from our blue team. The season was brought to a close with the home room tournament. Margaret Haugh's team succeeded in winning the Home Room banner.

Sixteen girls passed the difficult Senior Life Saving test and eleven girls passed the Junior Life Saving test successfully.

Social, folk, and tap dances were taught during the winter months in the regular gym classes. These dances were reviewed in the "gymnastic assembly" held in April.

In the spring, each gym class had a tennis tournament. The winners of each class played off an inter-class tournament, the winner being entered in the Annual State Tennis Tournament.

There was keen competition among the blue and white teams participating in class games as the points of each team, as well as those made by the individual, went toward the banner award at the end of the year.

The endeavor and constant aim is to build a program which will encourage the girls to participate in the sports for the enjoyment of the activity instead of for the sake of winning. The apparent enthusiasm and keen enjoyment of the activities outwardly manifested by the girls, indicates the full recognition of the intramural program. The traditional enmity that thrives in an inter-school program has been abolished and through this team organization, we have formed the basis of a more socialized attitude without losing the incentive for competition.

"Flashes of merriment that were want to set the table aroar."

The English class was discussing Queen Victoria and her influence in America upon such things as furniture. Thinking of the Mid-Victorian period, the teacher said, "Did you ever hear of any word applied to this influence?"

Krause—"Yes, the word 'valedictorian'."

Teacher—"Why don't intransitive verbs have voice?"

C. Johnston—"Probably they have a cold."

Then there's the freshman who thinks that only a scientist can contract sinus trouble.

A lady, who had been keeping her savings under the ice cubes in her General Electric, decided to return the roll of bills to the bank. As the bank teller mentioned the peculiar hiding-place this lady had used to a friend of his, the friend remarked:

"That's what one might call having 'frozen assets'!"

Mr. Piper—Do you remember what happened in 1776?

Knapp—No! I can't even remember what happened last night.

In Business Math, while doing an interest problem:

Mr. Millbury—Has anyone the time?

Leary—Yeah, quarter to three.

Holmes—Here comes a plucky girl.

Donahue—How do you know?

Holmes—Look at her eyebrows.

"You told me that horse had no faults, and I find he is blind in one eye."

"Well, that's not his fault, it's his misfortune."

Miss Worth—Peckenham, did you whisper to-day?

Peckenham—Yes, wunst.

Miss Worth—Knapp, should he have said that?

Knapp—No, he should have said twict.

In Latin Class

Miss Wilcox—Leary, what is the plural of key?

Leary (absent-mindedly)—Key, key.

Dear Jane:

Congratulations on your graduation!

Will you take a bit of advise from an old trouper? No matter what future you have selected for yourself . . . college, business or the home . . . you will naturally be called upon to make purchases from time to time.

So here's the advice: Always remember that "price" alone never makes a bargain. When you can combine reputable style and quality with low price . . . then and only then will you be receiving true value.

That's why I always shop at Watkins Brothers for home furnishings.
