CLASS PROPHECY

COME TO THE FAIR!

June 23, 1961

8 o'clock P. M.

Tight rope and trapeze artists, air plane daredevils, fun house, freak show, fortune tellers, weight tellers, and 25 thrill packed rides. All for the small price of $1.00! Put on by town of Manchester. Money goes to Manchester Memorial Hospital.

EVERYBODY COME!

Posters announcing the fair were all over town. Colorful illustrations done by Dorothy Krasenics, Nancy Wyrus, Eleanor Seelert, and Richard Jenkins, young artists, accompanied the notices.

The fair was put on by the town and townspeople provided the entertainment. Many young people who had graduated from Barnard Junior High just ten years ago were performing, or offering assistance.

It was a big day! The first attraction was the dancing girls, Rosemary Armstrong, Ruth Banner, Carol Meyers, Gail Post and Norma Macchia. There was a big crowd. Policeman John Christenson and policewoman Billie Smail patrolled the grounds.

Schoolteachers Lyn Norris, Lenore Zwick, and Carol Wennergren brought their classes to the fair to watch the entertainment.

Jackie Hedlund, physical education director, started a baseball game and Jon Steele, famous baseball player exhibited correct batting and fielding methods. Winners of the game were awarded sport's equipment donated by Robert Anderson who owns Anderson's Sporting Goods Store.

Keith Bruce and Richard McKinnery went around popping flash bulbs. Their pictures accompanied George English and Richard Winzler's story for the local newspaper.

Sydney Wiersma, nationally known astronomer, thrilled the people with his stories of the stars.

- Charles McCarthy sold refreshments from his chuckwagon.

All of a sudden, in the midst of all the excitement, the lights went out. George McFall and Ronnie Schulz, electricians, who were among the patrons, quickly helped to restore the lights.

Then came the big attraction. Barker, Guy Wilson, shouted into the mike rigged up by Bill Lanning, radio technician, "Ladies and Gentlemen, Come and see the airplane daredevils. Watch them do their spins and turns. Come and watch this thrill-packed, spine-tingling act." "Step right up, Step right up."

Robert Rose, Jack Krafjack, Larry Case, Herbie Sargent, and John Higley climbed into their airplanes, after Kenneth La Coss, airplane mechanic, had carefully checked them, and proceeded to thrill the crowd.

Suddenly one of the bystanders fainted. (Maybe the act was a little too thrilling.) Doctors Salvatore Squatrito and Kenneth Philips rushed up to offer their services. The patron was quickly revived, and order restored.

Robert Melendy, who is a famous aeronautical engineer gave a speech on modern planes.

The last attraction was the dog contest. Children walked their dogs around the ring and had them perform tricks. The judges were Hazel Christiana, Sylvia Crosby, Janet Maison and Patty Stevenson, all dog and horse trainers.

All in all it was a very exciting affair, and we are sure the patients at the Manchester Memorial Hospital heartily appreciate the talents and efforts of the townspeople.

CLASS WILL

We, the graduating class of 1951, of Barnard School, being of sound mind, hereby bequeath our most treasured possessions as listed —

To Miss Bennet we leave our deepest appreciation for her guidance through our Junior High Years.

To Cynthia Dunlop we leave Lucille McGuire's popularity.

To Miss Krapowicz we leave a class smart enough not to want to know which way she will "go" in geography.

To all who need or want them we leave Charles Casselli's curls.

To all who want it we leave Darlene Glamann's and Kenny Phillip's quietness(?)

To Miss Johnson we leave a class who puts all its math papers in its notebooks.

To Eddie Wojok we leave Bob Dunean's sport's ability.

To Mr. Wood we leave a group of altos that aren't "a constant source of discouragement"!

To Tony Perozziello we leave some of Teddy Johnson!

To Mrs. Johnson we leave a class who doesn't say "oh".

To Janice Roberts we leave some of Gloria Gangloff's shyness.

To Mrs. Maher we leave a Press Club which gets material in on time.

To Noreen Gratton we leave Lenore Zwick's perfect penmanship.

To Mr. Ware we leave a cooperative gym class.

To Miss Lynch we leave a class who walks to Charter Oak lots in a double line not dawdling (if it's possible!)

To Gail Gustafson we leave Inara Koch's good looks (not that she needs them).

To Mrs. Bonney we leave a class that gets science assignments done on time.

To those who grab first we will Eleanor Seclert's brains.

To Miss Gove we leave a class of perfect spellers.

To Jackie Farrell we leave some new curlers, those old ones must be worn out!

To Miss Clark we leave a class who recites well in Civics.

To Rosie Simoncelli we leave Darlene Glamann's good nature and ready smile.

To Mr. Miller we leave a class who uses the tools for work not weapons!
To Richard Gratton we leave Charles Caselli's seat in the office.
To Mrs. Budd we leave another class of prize winning artists!
To those who follow us we leave Patty Wupperfeld's geography recitations.

In witness thereof, we have hereto set our hand and seal at Barnard Junior High School, in the town of Manchester, State of Connecticut, on this 18th day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred fifty-one. We legally affix our true signatures to this lawful document and place thereon our mark "X".

Graduation Poem . . .

GRADUATION

As we all walked over to High School Hall
We thought ahead to the following fall
When we would make up the freshmen class
Every graduating lad and lass.
When we entered the hall and saw the audience
The ones who made speeches grew very tense
But as we walked up the aisle we became quite calm
For who's afraid of his Dad and Mom?
The girls in white made a pretty sight
But on this day shown another light
A light that had guided our lives thus far
The light was our guiding star
As we accepted our diploma on the stage
We passed the days of grammar school age
And as we sang out loud and clear
We proudly remembered our eighth grade year.

ELEANOR SEELERT

A Backward Glance from the Gateway . . .

CLASS HISTORY

Well, here we are in Barnard Junior High
At last we're seventh graders — you and I
Teachers for every class, Well, for heaven's sake!
Units, compositions — those I have to make!
Assemblies, movies, lectures and such
I never thought there'd be so much!
Clubs, activities, — Pottery, printing and press
Different, exciting, and lots of fun, I confess.
Mr. Nelson's movie of the southwestern states,
Mrs. Shaw's exhibition of finger paints
Red Cross, safety, they all played a part
In helping us take our assemblies to heart.
To the basketball scores our eyes did cling
Till the games were climaxed by Sport's Night in Spring.
The combination of Barnard and Nathan Hale made
A wonderful game in which seventh and eighth graders played.

The Outdoor Festival was loads of fun,
The night when parents and children sung.
Then the eighth grade did graduate
And vacation came at a surprising rate.
We'd soon be eighth graders when along came fall,
And again our laughter'd ring in the Barnard hall.
Now we are back in Barnard Junior High,
This time eighth graders, you and I.
The teachers whom we met before,
Are standing at our eighth grade door.
The assemblies we enjoyed last year,
Are again given another cheer.
The March of Dimes, let us all play a big part,
And we all gave to it with our heart.
The air raid drills, gave us the chills.
The Mikado movie was treat,
And the spring festival, performed in all the heat.
Mr. Nelson and his movies of the southern states,
Did again with us eighth graders rate.
The art contests in which many did partake,
Paid off for some who won a sweepstake.
Open house, which to our parents, friends, and neighbors did come.
They were sure to be greeted with a cheery welcome.
Sport's Day was next to roll around,
And the crack of the bat made a welcome sound.
The class party was a big success
With everybody dressed in his Sunday best.
Graduation exercises in High School Hall,
With girls in their white dresses and all.
Soon the High School doors to us will be opened wide,
And the long remembered fun at Barnard will have died.

GATEWAY SPORT'S REVIEW

Our memories would not be complete without some mention of sports and their participants at Barnard.

Heading our list might be the names of Bob Duncan, Jack Hedlund and Jim Taylor who made such an outstanding record for the basketball team.

In soccer we find a repeat in Jack Hedlund's and Jim Taylor's names added to those of George McFall and Herby Sargent.

And for "the" American sport, baseball, Bob Duncan, Jim Taylor, Jack Hedlund, John Higley, and Don Bogner head the list.

May we salute these classmates of ours as being good sports as well as showing sport's ability.
